STATE WEAVES NET ABOUT HINES IN HALLORAN DEATH

New Links Are Forged by Prosecutor Lippincott

EYE-WITNESSES TELL STORY

Enos Hickey Important Aid to Prosecution

New links were forged by the state in the trial of Otis Hines, Tuesday in the chain of evidence, fastening the slaying of Robert Halloran, 19, upon the mulatto waiter.

Evidence was introduced by Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott to endeavor to prove that Hines adopted the policy of taking no chances, shooting first and questioning later. Testimony was calculated to bear out the assertions of Enos Hickey, companion of the derelict and eye witness of the affray, that Hines shot without provocation.

Joe Baker, 18, apprentice butcher, told of witnessing the shooting from the north side of McKibben-st. He saw the flashes of fire pierce the semi-darkness; saw several figures whom he could not discern clearly; and then two men ran west.

BAKER'S TESTIMONY

He heard Hines say at the time to some men at the corner, "Does any one else want any of this?" he testified.

Hines was carrying his automatic pointed toward the ground, the witness said.

Dr. A. C. Adams, former coroner, told of the location of the bullet wound.

Hines displayed more nervousness than he has manifested since the outset of the trial when Noah D. Morrison, iron worker, 721 S. Metcalf-st., related a purported conversation with Hines, alleged to have taken place in the county jail. "When I shoot," Hines is alleged to have said, "I shoot to get 'em."

Morrison declared that Hines told him that he had a large sum of money in his possession and feared a holdup; that it wasn't a good idea to walk between two men, but that he did so and one of them hit him.

Blood-stained garments worn by Robert Halloran, the night of the shooting were identified on the witness stand by Bernard Halloran, a brother.

Bernard denied that his brother was a professional fighter. He was deeply affected by the sight of the clothing.

WITNESS AFFECTED

There was a catch in his voice as he spoke of "Bobby." He seemed on the verge of a collapse several times while on the stand, but came thru the ordeal by sheer nerve, as he fought back the tears that filled his eyes.

That Otis Hines shot in the defense of his life, when he mortally wounded Robert Halloran, near McKibben and Union-sts on the night of September 10, was the dramatic assertion of counsel for the accused negro, at the opening of the trial.

Circumstances leading to the fatal shooting in the half lighted street, when shots blazed forth and Halloran and Hickey, his companion, ran west, were related by Enos E. Hickey, 214 W. Hall-st.

Hickey is a welder and was out on strike at the B. & O. Railroad shops at the time of the shooting. He returned to work when the men were called back, but has been furloughed since November 22.

"I never saw Hines until that night," declared Hickey. "He was 20 or 30 feet away when I first saw him."

"Bobby Halloran was with me. First we were over south at Maxwell's gymnasium, where he was training. He skipped the rope and shadow box a while."

WALKED TO COOL OFF
The witness told of their walking north in Main-st with a trainer and others and that Halloran was cautioned not to cool off too rapidly.

Near Vine-st, the party halted at a grocery and Hickey and "Young Jack" Verbyrke were weighed. The party then walked up to Main and Wayne-sts, where James Sweeney left and retraced his steps south.

Halloran and Hickey walked north in Main to Pearl-st, the first street north of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. They turned eastward to Union-st, the first street west of Main.

Halloran at this point, the witness said, proposed they walk up and see the shops. The two boys turned north into Union, Hickey related, following the west side of the street. At the corner of McKibben and Union-st, they turned westward.

"We were talking and Bobby was looking back toward the shops," the witness said. "He had been out in California four or five months. Yes, he was a little deaf. He had worked at the shops as an apprentice boiler-maker."

"We saw Hines coming from the west. He was right in the center of the walk. He was coming pretty

WAR OPENED ON JAZZ SUITS

CINCINNATI — (Associated Press.) — Style creators of masculine apparel will fashion the coming season's sartorial style at the semi-annual convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers, which opens a three-day meeting here tomorrow.

A movement against the so-called "jazz" effect to men's suits will be launched at the convention.

Irving I. Frankel, president of the Cincinnati club of clothing designers, who will lead the movement against "Tweed" trousers; coats with waistlines cut nearly to the arm pits; coats resembling the attire of a "coster" Englishman, in their profusion of buttons, and coats with flaring skirts, said today that "jazz" clothing is not popular and never will be.

BOYS ADMIT LIST OF ROBBERIES

Near Dozen Places Visited, They Tell Police

Alleged confessions made to police Tuesday morning by two lads, both under 21, disclosed a series of petty crimes, extending over six months.

The youths, Earl Lucas, 18, of 709 W. Eureka-st, and Charles Hight, 18, near 307 W. Spring-st, when taken into custody were each armed and were surrounded with the spoils of their previous night's activity, according to police. One carried a .38-calibre revolver and the other a .25-calibre automatic.

In their confessions, police say, the lads admitted 12 offences which had been reported. In the majority of cases, the loss was small, but in all, police say, sufficient evidence has been gathered to place charges of burglary and larceny against them.

The thefts admitted by Lucas and Hight, police say, are:

Lucasburg Coal Co., Bruce-av and Metcalf-sts, entered by rear window, took lead pencils.

Smith & Sherrick, 339 S. Union-st, nothing taken.

Detonators were able to place the culprits by means of stolen cigarettes, which were being offered for sale at very low prices, they said.

When questioned at police station, the lads admitted their guilt, police assert.

STRIKE RESULTS IN DEATH, RUIN

Man is Hanged by Mob at Harrison, Ark.

CAPITALIST IS FLOGGED

Property Burned and Many Driven From Town

HARRISON, Ark. — (Associated Press.) — The body of E. C. Gregor, a Missouri and North Arkansas striker, was found hanging from a bridge near the railroad yards this morning. Gregor is said to be the man who opened fire on officers and citizens who searched his home yesterday afternoon according to a telegram to the Arkansas Democrat.

It is said here that he was called before the vigilance committee last night and that he defied them, avowing that "a day of reckoning" would come.

A coroner's jury is being impaneled to investigate the killing.

Several hundred armed citizens who began "house cleaning" yesterday, still were walking the streets this morning searching for strikers whom they were "grilling" before a committee. It is said, in an effort to find clues as to who is responsible for the destruction of railroad property.

PUBLICLY WHIPPED
A well known capitalist and hotel owner, the Arkansas Democrat's telegram states, was publicly whipped on the street this morning and then taken before the citizens' committee. He is said to have signed the bond of A. D. Stephens, accused of the bridge burning.

The circuit court adjourned today until January 29.

A citizens' committee today was questioning about twenty alleged strikers on the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad, rounded up from points along the road by several hundred men who came here after announcing that they would resort to "armed action" unless reparations on that line ceased.

A number of alleged strikers were driven from town, while others, hearing that the citizens were coming, fled. Periodically, bridges on the road have been burned and service completely tied up between some points. It is estimated that more than 800 citizens came here to round up the strikers.

A brakeman named Ford was slightly wounded when struck by a shot fired from the home of a man said to be a striker. At another house the invaders were met by a gun but no one was injured. The crowd was orderly.

The labor hall was raided and its furniture and fixtures burned.

Several of the men reported that a store of guns and ammunition was discovered in one of the homes they entered.

According to J. C. Murray, vice president and general manager of the road, the recent bridge fires were of incendiary origin. All of the bridges along the line are being guarded by citizens who have organized, he said.

ANIMALS, FOWLS IN LIQUOR CODE

Names of animals and fowls are used in a code for ordering whiskey from bootleggers in Delphos, according to John Smith, witness in U. S. Commissioner C. W. Long's court, in a case brought against William Hershey, Delphos, on a charge of selling liquor.

Here is the code for ordering "wet goods," as Smith tells it: "Fetch a pig," means rush a pint. "Two pigs" mean a quart.

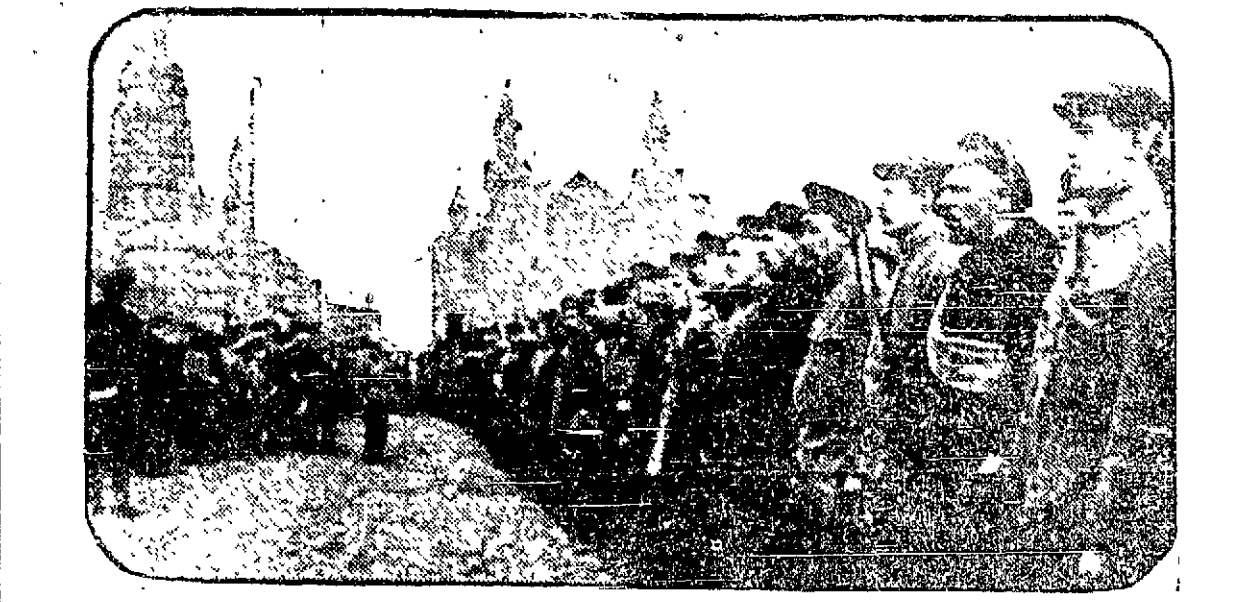

"What did you say when you wanted more?" asked Commissioner Long, addressing Smith.

"That's all I ever bought," said the witness. "I never had enough money to buy more."

Smith also said another code used is: "Fetch a chicken," for a pint, and "a rooster," for a quart.

Smith is right watching at the Hinde & Daugh paper mill. He told Commissioner Long he had been in the habit of buying one or two pints a week. Hershey delivered the whiskey to him at the mill, he asserted.

OHIO FARMER SHOTS GIRL, ENDS OWN LIFE WITH GUN

Attacks Teacher on Lonely Road Near Marietta

WITNESSED BY SCHOOL BOY

Assailant Rushes Home and Commits Suicide

MARIETTA — (Associated Press.) — While Alice Dunbar, 20, pretty school mistress of Mount Liberty school, shot four times late Monday afternoon by Dow Nice, 30, farmer of Big Run, who attacked her as she rode horseback thru a lonely stretch of woods, and then ended his own life, was being rushed to a hospital at Parkersburg, W. Va., in an effort to save her life, the authorities of two counties turned their attention today to learning the details of the shooting from Lloyd Miller, 11, pupil at Mt. Liberty school, said to be the only eye witness to the affair.

Hearing the screams of the young woman as he sauntered along the road, the Miller boy who remained after school to do the janitor work, hurried to the scene to find the young woman's assailant dragging her across the road. As he approached the boy said Nice caught sight of him and jumping on the horse made off in the direction of his home.

BOY TELLS OF CRIME
The Miller boy went to his home and called his father who, with the aid of others, went to the scene and carried the girl to the Miller home. Nice, who is the son of a wealthy farmer, reached his home a short time afterwards and picking up a shotgun, went into a bedroom where he shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

Nice was twice committed to the hospital for the insane at Athens, being discharged in each instance as cured. The coroners of both Athens and Washington-co are investigating the case.

Altho conscious only at times, the young woman talked to persons at her bedside after the shooting. She said her assailant came out from his flag place at the roadside as she approached and without uttering a word fired at her. He then dragged her from the horse.

SHOOTING FOLLOWS FIGHT
According to police, the shooting came after a fight between the dead man and Canell. The argument was quoted by Roedel, it is claimed, and later was renewed. When Roedel tried to act as peacemaker again he alleges McGregor fired two shots at him. Then, say the police, Roedel wrested the gun away from him and fired.

After the confession was signed Roedel was taken by police to the apartment where the shooting took place and there re-enacted the details of the tragedy.

GEORGE L. ROEDL ADMITS KILLING

Confession Clears up Shooting in Cleveland Apartment

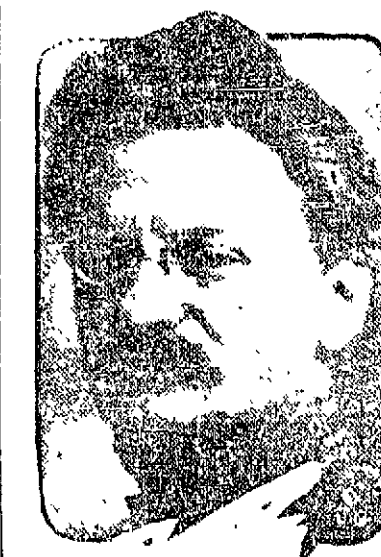

CLEVELAND — (United Press.) — George L. Roedel, 25, was charged with murder today following a confession, police say, that he shot and killed Edward J. McGregor, found diving in a hallway of an apartment at Euclid-av and east 55th-st Saturday night.

Roedel and McGregor were wartime "buddies," police declare. It was established that the weapon used in the slaying was an Italian army pistol which had been brought back by the two as a war souvenir.

Following the booking of Roedel, Ollie Chill, veteran baseball umpire, and Robert J. Burke, a contractor, were released. They were members of the party that preceded the slaying.

ALL OUTLETS IN CONTROL OF INVADERS

Paris Extends Lines, Following Germany's Defiant Attitude

DRASTIC ACT THREATENED

Temper of Natives Called Ugly, Uprising Feared

DUESSELDORF — (Associated Press.) — The French now control every outlet of the Ruhr into Germany whether by rail or water. The lines were extended today thru Dortmund, ten kilometers northeast to Lammern on the Lippe, and thence to Witten, which is seven kilometers south of Dortmund.

PARIS — (Associated Press.) — The reparations commission in a session lasting less than half an hour today rushed thru a decision declaring Germany in wilful default in certain deliveries in kind for the year 1922.

The reparations bloc, France, Belgium and Italy, voted in favor of declaring the default, and Kombar Cook, the British delegate, acting in place of Sir John Brodhurst, who was indisposed, abstained from voting.

The hurried decision followed Germany's refusal to make any more deliveries in kind, including coal, wood, cattle, dyas and building materials as long as the French remained in the Ruhr.

President Barthou said Germany's refusal was "an open defiance" and that "any further refusal by her will have fatal results."

The American representatives, Roland W. Hayden and Colonel James A. Logan, were present but had nothing to say.

PARIS (United Press.) — Official announcement of the occupation of Dortmund by French troops was made today. The French line was further advanced to Horde. First military requisitions of coal were made this morning.

Reported any further refusal by Germany of details of the trouble at Dortmund at 7 o'clock last night.

In shooting between German citizens and communists, Maginot reported, "one person was killed. Later a crowd of 2,000 attacked the French troops." The latter were forced to fire. One German was killed and two wounded by the volley. No soldiers were hurt. Drastic measures to prevent further rioting are in force.

EXTENT OF INVASION
(By CARL D. GROOT.)
BERLIN — (United Press.) — French troops in the Ruhr pushed further forward over a fan-shaped area today and it is believed the invaders will extend their occupations beyond the River Lippe as far as Hamm.

The outer arc of the occupied area reached this forenoon passed thru the Hiltmann, Horn, Castrop and Bochum. Complete occupation of Dortmund was expected to be accomplished within a moment.

The occupation will include virtually all of Rhensish Westphalia's mining region, representing about three-fourths of the whole German output. This will take French troops into the heart of the Westphalia region.

THE first bloodshed of the occupation at Dortmund, where French troops shot down German civilians yesterday, killing one and wounding others, is feared in Berlin to be but preliminary to further casualties throughout the occupied zone.

French troops at four stages from there. Since his retirement where Mrs. Hill was prominent socially.

The police chief was ordered punished for the outbreak.

Upings that about Westphalia and the Ruhr were feared momentarily as the temper of both invaders and civilians became uglier with an increasing number of incidents such as this. Agitation was under way in Bavaria today to create a new "Anschlussverein" (union guards), which would be led by the allies.

FLAG POKE DOWN
Just as this, first sign of rising tide of temper among the invaders is believed to presage serious trouble for civilian populations of the Ruhr so is the bitter feeling of the German citizens cropping out from known today that the Cuno administration will not negotiate with the French on this point as long as the

The letter was delivered yesterday at the Castellini home and threatened Castellini because of his sympathies for the Irish cause.

Names of animals and fowls are used in a code for ordering whisky from bootleggers in Delphos, according to John Smith, witness in U. S. Commissioner C. W. Long's court, in a case brought against William Hershey, Delphos, on a charge of selling liquor.

Here is the code for ordering "wet goods," as Smith tells it: "Fetch a pig," means rush a plot. "What did you say when you wanted more?" asked Commissioner

OHIO FARMER SHOTS GIRL, ENDS OWN LIFE WITH GUN

Attacks Teacher on Lonely Road Near Marietta

WITNESSED BY SCHOOL BOY

Assailant Rushes Home and Commits Suicide

MARIETTA — (Associated Press.) — While Alice Dunbar, 29, pretty school mistress of Mount Liberty school, shot four times late Monday afternoon by Dow Nice, 30, farmer of Big Run, who attacked her as she rode horseback thru a lonely stretch of woods, and then ended his own life, was being rushed to a hospital at Parkersburg, W. Va., in an effort to save her life, the authorities of two counties turned their attention today to learning the details of the shooting from Lloyd Miller, 11, pupil at Mt. Liberty school, said to be the only eye witness to the affair.

Hearing the screams of the young woman as he cantered along the road, the Miller boy who remained after school to do the janitor work, hurried to the scene to find the young woman's assailant dragging her across the road. As he approached the boy said Nice caught sight of him and jumping on the horse made off in the direction of his home.

BOY TELLS OF CRIME
The Miller boy went to his home and called his father who, with the aid of others, went to the scene and carried the girl to the Miller home. Nice, who is the son of a wealthy farmer, reached his home a short time afterwards and picking up a shotgun, went into a bedroom where he shot himself in the head, dying instantly.

Nice was twice committed to the hospital for the insane at Athens, being discharged in each instance as cured. The coroners of both Athens and Washington counties are investigating the case.

Altho conscious only at times, the young woman talked to persons at her bedside after the shooting. She said her assailant came out from his link place at the road-side as she approached and without uttering a word fired at her. He then dragged her from the horse.

SHOOTING FOLLOWS FIGHT
According to police, the shooting came after a fight between the dead man and Cahill. The argument was quoted by Roedel, it is claimed, and later was renewed. When Roedel tried to act as peacemaker again he alleged McGregor fired two shots at him. Then, say the police, Roedel wrested the gun away from him and fired.

After the confession was signed Roedel was taken by police to the apartment where the shooting took place and there re-enacted the details of the tragedy.

ANIMALS, FOWLS IN LIQUOR CODE

Long, addressing Smith, "That's all I ever bought," said the witness. "I never had enough money to buy more."

Smith also said another code used by "Fetch a chicken, for a pint, and a 'rooster' for a quart."

Smith is night watchman at the Hinde & Dauch paper mills. He had been in the habit of buying one or two pints a week. Hershey delivered the whisky to him at the mill, he asserted.

Demonstration Against Invasion Of Ruhr Valley Held at Moscow

MOSCOW — (Associated Press.) — A demonstration against war and the French occupation of the Ruhr was staged by the workmen of many factories here yesterday.

"Down with the French imperialists! Long live the German revolution!"—many of the banners carried in the procession read.

Altho the Communists hope for an ultimate revolution in Germany, the correspondent is informed that Russian government circles prefer tranquility in that country at this time. One widely known Communist asserted that if a workmen's revolution took place in Germany now, Russia would probably be obliged not only to aid the German Communists with arms but to feed the population.

GEORGE L. ROEDL ADMITS KILLING

Confession Clears up Shooting in Cleveland Apartment

CLEVELAND — (United Press.) — George L. Roedel, 25, was charged with murder today following a confession, police say, that he shot and killed Edward J. McGregor, found dying in a hallway of an apartment at Euclid-av and east 59th-st Saturday night.

Roedel and McGregor were wartime "buddies," police declare. It was established that the weapon used in the slaying was an Italian army pistol which had been brought back by the two as a war souvenir.

Following the booking of Roedel, Ollie Chilli, veteran baseball umpire, and Robert J. Burke, a contractor, were released. They were members of the party that preceded the slaying.

According to police, the shooting came after a fight between the dead man and Cahill. The argument was quoted by Roedel, it is claimed, and later was renewed. When Roedel tried to act as peacemaker again he alleged McGregor fired two shots at him. Then, say the police, Roedel wrested the gun away from him and fired.

ALL OUTLETS IN CONTROL OF INVADERS

Paris Extends Lines, Following Germany's Defiant Attitude

DRASTIC ACT THREATENED

Temper of Natives Called Ugly.—Uprising Feared

DUESSELDORF — (Associated Press.) — The French now control every outlet of the Ruhr into Germany whether by rail or water. The lines were extended today thru Dortmund, ten kilometers northeast to Lünen on the Lippe, and thence to Witten, which is seven kilometers south of Dortmund.

PARIS — (Associated Press.) — The reparations commission in a session today rushed thru a decision declaring Germany in default in certain deliveries in kind for the year 1923.

The reparations bloc, France, Belgium and Italy—voted in favor of declaring the default, and Kainbull Cook, the British delegate, acting in place of Sir John Blandford, who was indisposed, abstained from voting.

The hurried decision followed Germany's refusal to make any more deliveries in kind, including coal, wood, cattle, dyas and building materials for long as the French remained in the Ruhr.

President Barthou said Germany refusal was "an open defiance of the allies" which must be met with lasting action.

The French representatives, Roland W. Boyden and Colonel James A. Logan, were present but had nothing to say.

ENTIRE OF INVASION
PARIS — (United Press.) — Official announcement of the occupation of Dortmund by French troops was made today. The French line was further advanced to Borde. First military regulations of coal were made this morning.

General Magnot reported to the cabinet officials details of the trouble at Bochum at 7 o'clock last night.

In talking between German citizens and communists, Magnot reported, "one person was killed. Later a crowd of 2,000 attacked the French troops. The latter were forced to fire. One German was killed and two wounded by the volleys. No soldiers were hurt. Drastic measures to prevent further rioting are in force."

ENTIRE OF INVASION
PARIS — (United Press.) — French troops in the Ruhr pushed further forward over a fan-shaped area today and it is believed the invaders will extend their occupation beyond the River Lippe as far as Hamm.

The enter are of the occupied area reached this morning. The first truckload of iron, cast-iron and steel was expected to be announced at any moment.

It is indicated that the occupation will include virtually all of the Ruhr's industrial region, representing about three-fourths of the whole German output. This will take French troops into the heart of the Westphalia region.

GERMANS ATTACKED
The first bloodshed of the occupation at Bochum, where French troops shot down German civilians yesterday, killing one and wounding three, is feared in Berlin to be but preliminary to further casualties throughout the occupied zone.

Germans at Duer stated French troops as the latter marched into the town. The French general in command ordered his soldiers to shoot if the attack was repeated. The police chief was ordered punished for the outbreak.

Uprising throughout Westphalia and the Ruhr were feared momentarily as the temper of both invaders and civilians became uglier with an increasing number of incidents such as this. Action was under way in Bavaria today to create a new "Anwohnerwehr" (citizen guards), but the attack was reported.

FLAG TORN DOWN
Just as the first sign of rising tide of temper among the invaders is being used to pressure serious French for civilian populations of the Ruhr, is the bitter feeling of the German citizens cropping out. Those were indicated when Germans at Steele tore down a French military flag and shredded it to ribbons.

The mayor of the town was forced to answer for the insult.

It is freely noted that inside a month the bloodiest guerrilla warfare will devastate the Ruhr valley. Especially will this be inevitable, German say, if the French invaders endeavor to force the miners to "slave labor."

The German government is apparently making the subject of withholding coal deliveries from France. It was permitted to be known today that the Cuno administration will not negotiate with the French on this point as long as the

CAPPER BOOM IS PUNCTURED

Kansas Senator Puts Stop to Boost for Presidency

WILL STICK TO PRESENT JOB

Desires to Continue Fight for Farmer, He Says

(BY PAUL R. MALLON)
WASHINGTON — (United Press) — The boom to make Senator Capper of Kansas, farmer, and progressive, a presidential candidate in 1924, was punctured today by Capper himself.

"I'd like to see a farmer from the middle West president of the United States," he told the United Press in an interview. "I think it would be a good thing for the country—but not for me."

"I've got a man-sized job here in the senate for the next few years. I am going to devote my political life to working out a permanent solution of the farmers' ills."

FARMER'S SHARE SMALL

"There is something fundamentally wrong with this agricultural system in the United States. Here a farmer gets only about 34 cents out of every dollar the consumer spends for farm products. In some nations they get as high as 75 cents out of the consumer's dollar."

"There is too much money being wasted between the producer and the consumer. I'm going to find out where that money goes and then I'll attempt to sweep out that waste by congressional legislation."

"If I can do that, I figure I will have satisfied my ambition."

"That looks bigger to me than being president."

PURCHASE OF PAPERS

Capper has been repeatedly mentioned as the farm bloc's candidate for the presidency. His recent purchase of a string of farm papers in the east was regarded by some watchful politicians as a move to provide a strong weapon for his reported presidential candidacy.

It is known that Capper has written some of his closest friends telling them he does not intend to allow the presidential "buzz" to buzz around him. Capper said there was no farm bloc presidential nominee as yet. He declared he was authorizing those who had begun to boom his name to turn their work to other channels.

Senator LaFollette, Borah and Johnson and others will receive the backing of most of the progressive farm bloc members, he said. But he added that no serious consideration had been given by the groups to a unanimous choice for the presidential nomination.

PAVING PROJECT IN DELPHOS

Improvement Plan for E. Fourth-st Has Been Revived

Revival of plans for paving of E. Fourth-st. in Delphos is being discussed in official circles. The project, contemplating the improvement of the thoroughfare from Main-st to Flat Rock creek, a distance of approximately five blocks, was tied up two years ago when property owners lodged a protest.

All legislation has been enacted according to Service Director J. A. Spellman. Arrangements were made for the sale of bonds.

Paving of the street is one of the most important things needed in the endeavor for a bigger and better Delphos, officials declare. The thoroughfare lies midway between Third and Fifth-sts., both of which are paved with brick.

Whether there has been a turn in sentiment among property owners has not been determined, it is said.

There has been a decided change in attitude of officials, including Spellman, with respect to handling paving jobs. Heretofore no steps were taken unless council was presented with petitions from taxpayers favoring street improvements, but the method of council declaring such improvements are necessary and then proceeding with legislation, is meeting with approval of the city administration.

More initiative on the part of council in taking up these issues will, it is believed, eliminate discussion.

Paving of S. Franklin-st may be started in this manner. Necessary number of property owners to sign a petition could not be obtained two years ago and sentiment has been little changed since. It is stated, "For council to proceed with plans and paving Franklin-st with S. Pierce, S. Main and Cleveland sts., which are on the program for 1923, would be a good method to pursue, officials declare."

Baumgardner, in the churches; and Mrs. Deocher Moke before the city Federation of clubs.

RUHR IS CIRCLED BY FRENCH

Ruhr is occupied. As the French have made it clear occupation of the Ruhr is to enforce satisfactory negotiations and coal deliveries the situation seems completely deadlocked.

ORDER SUSPENDED

PARIS — (Associated Press) — An order requisitioning the Ruhr valley mines has been suspended for 24 hours. This was taken here as an indication that the mine owners are ready to adopt a more reasonable attitude toward the coal deliveries which have been forbidden by the Berlin government.

Only this modification in Premier Poincaré's plans for going ahead with his policy of seizing guarantees was evident this morning.

It was thought here that the negative policy of Chancellor Cuno might involve the fall of his cabinet.

THREAT OF FRENCH

ESSEN — (Associated Press) — Whatever the outcome of the conference set for today at Dusseldorf between the German industrial magnates and the French economic mission, the Ruhr valley appeared this morning to be in line for an uncompromising military occupation.

"We've tried soft methods and the Germans have refused to cooperate," the correspondent was told at the French military headquarters. "If they do not come to terms now they will get a taste of what they gave Belgium and northern France. We will give them something to whine for."

Today's meeting to which the German industrial leaders had been invited under the threat that if they failed to appear they would be sent for, was to be presided over by General Degoutte.

French economic experts appear somewhat less sanguine than the military leaders over the prospect of the practical results of the meeting.

The about-face position of the German industrialists took the French by surprise. They were quite convinced Sunday night that the Germans had agreed in principle to the coal deliveries; hence yesterday's breaking down in the economic negotiations came as a bombshell.

GERMANS WAITING

ESSEN — (Associated Press) — The Ruhr valley mine operators forbidden by the German coal commission to make deliveries to the entrance, have decided to wait and see what France will do, their spokesmen said today.

They did not expect the occupation in the first place and now that it has come about, it only remains for them to await further action by the economic commission.

FLOOR GIVES WAY, 12 ARE HURT

Women Fall Six Feet in Crash at St. Paul's Church

EXCITEMENT AT FUNERAL

Serious Injuries Are Suffered by Two of Number

Mrs. Joseph Vaughn, S. Nye-st and Mrs. Rose Randall, 1549 W. Spring-st., were the most severely injured Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the concrete vestibule floor in St. Paul's A. M. E. church, W. Spring-st., gave way under an assembly of people.

Mrs. Vaughn's leg was fractured between the knee and ankle, the tibia being broken. Mrs. Randall suffered a severe cut in the left ankle. Several stitches were required to close the wound. Several of the injured were hurried to City hospital.

The accident occurred following funeral services in the church for Mrs. E. B. Bailey, 1320 W. Spring-st. Others injured, in addition to Mrs. Vaughn and Mrs. Randall, include:

Mrs. Alice Lowery, S. Baxter-st, knee wrenched.

Mrs. M. Burns, W. Spring-st., both ankles sprained.

Mrs. Clara Mosier, Atlantic-st., severely shaken up.

Mrs. Thomas Mackwee, Watson-st., bruised.

Mrs. Anna K. Bradley, 1105 W. Spring-st., bruised.

Mrs. Lucinda Byrd, W. Spring-st., severe shaking up.

Mrs. Belle Rudy, W. Wayne-st., ankle sprained.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson, W. Spring-st., ribs bruised.

Mrs. Ethel Podry, S. Rosedale-st., left ankle sprained.

Anna May Thomas, W. Wayne-st., wound in left leg.

The Thomas' stockings were shredded as they had been cut with scissors, Dr. J. G. Bradford stated.

Others sustained slight hurts, mostly about the ankles.

FLOOR GIVES WAY

More than twenty-five persons were planned a distance of six feet when the ladies members of the church of Calvary were entering the church for their wraps, after escorting the casket to the hearse, and at the same time the members of the choir were leaving the church.

Combined weight of the people passing each other at the same time, caused the vestibule floor, a space six by 15 feet and one and one half inches thick, to give way, precipitating them into a hollow space six feet below the level of the vestibule.

Rev. James Hogan, pastor of the church, stated Tuesday that the collapse was due to this space not being braced by posts. This work was done by out-of-town contractors, who will be called upon to repair the damage, he stated.

PLANS FOR THRIFT WEEK ARE COMPLETE; CAMPAIGN TO BE OPENED WEDNESDAY

Gayly printed folders explaining the value of thrift and urging the starting of savings accounts, will be distributed Wednesday, Benjamin Franklin's birthday, by postal officials.

This will be the starting signal for Thrift Week which will extend from January 17 to 23 and will be held under the cooperative guidance of Lima business men and the Y. M. C. A.

While each of the folders distributed by postoffice employees will recommend the use of the postal savings depository, as a depository, its lesson of thrift will be applicable to all other forms of saving.

Mail trucks will be decorated with banners during the week. Postmaster A. E. Gale announced Tuesday.

Folders will be distributed to every home in the city, to all postoffice mail boxes and on rural routes.

All public gatherings during the week will be visited by a corps of speakers who will spread the gospel of thrift. Community kitchens and essay contests are also planned.

Wednesday will be National Thrift Day and will be the starting point for the week's campaign.

SHOEMAKER FINED, JAILED; CASES IN COURT CLEANUP

Maximum sentence provided by the statutes of the State of Ohio for misdemeanors was handed out by Judge Jackson in criminal court Tuesday morning.

Jim Brown, 133 S. Broadway, pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $15. Jim Watson, 26 no address, entered a plea of not guilty to drunkenness. His trial was set at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

R. M. Freeman, 158 W. High-st., pleaded guilty to speeding 21 miles per hour. His excuse that it was necessary to catch a train did not prove sufficient to obtain leniency from Judge Jackson, who fined Freeman $10.

I. M. Whittington, 954 North-st., charged with heading his automobile the wrong direction, pleaded guilty and was fined $1.

ATHLETIC FIELD FOR DELPHOS

School Board and Kiwanis Club Join in Move

Youths of Delphos—those who attend school and those who do not—will be given ample athletic opportunities under plans advocated by the board of education and Kiwanis club.

Improvement of Cleveland Field, on which the board of education has a three-year lease, is strongly advocated by Dr. N. E. Brundage, president. Cooperation of citizens would make the project a certainty, he said.

The board has powers to expend funds for improvement purposes and may also buy grounds for athletic purposes. There is no fund for the purpose in existence, however.

The matter has been informally discussed. Brundage declared, but no definite plans laid. Sentiment seems to be favorable, he says.

Erection of a grandstand, bleachers and laying out of sections for baseball, football and track are proposed. Enclosure of the field is also advocated, because it is held an impossibility to put school athletic contests on a paying basis without that requisite.

If it is decided to provide additional facilities, it should be done before the baseball season starts, according to Brundage. There is a baseball diamond, but it has been plowed up and will not be in fit shape for the national pastime without considerable work.

Atte dance at football games last season was a sure indication that better facilities are needed for handling crowds. Hundreds attended the games with no better opportunity to view the contests than occasional glimpses from the sidelines.

Kiwanians will undertake the physical welfare of children in general. Whereas, the proposed

Cleveland field project affects only school children, the club program will benefit all, and even adults will have an opportunity to avail themselves of the recreational paraphernalia at Delphos city park, it is pointed out.

The Kiwanis program calls for the laying out of a baseball diamond, tennis courts and installation of much playground material.

FINANCE CENTERS STAND FIRM

Invasion of Germany Fails to Upset Trade Conditions

FRANCS AND STERLING UP

Domestic Situation Continues to Improve, Forbes Reports

(BY B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK — (Special) — What has been the financial response to France's invasion of the industrial heart of Germany, a daring move which so many expected would cause consternation and demoralization? French currency, as measured by international dealings in francs, are moving upwards; the pound sterling is at the highest point of the current year; the German mark has not gone down any more rapidly than had become its habit, while the security markets abroad and at home have betrayed no nervous excitement.

There is a feeling in the highest financial circles that, hasty and regrettable though the French action is regarded, it will tend to bring matters to a head and hasten comprehensive action leading to a real settlement of the German snarl—provided France does not elect to defy the world by demonstrating beyond shadow of doubt that she is bent upon German territory in preference to German reparations.

Meanwhile, the financial and business community can but scrutinize events very closely, paying particular attention to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates.

At home, what has the new year brought?

Price advances have multiplied pronouncedly. Last week alone 53 of a total of 74 revisions were upwards, while in the previous week 31 of a total of 53 changes were upwards.

Cotton has touched the highest point of the season, 27.1-2 cents a pound.

Iron quotations have been marked up more than a dollar a ton.

Corn and oats have touched the year's best figures and higher than it was a week ago.

Rubber has continued its upward trend.

Cattle, hogs and sheep prices hold very firm.

The great automobile show held in New York was attended by unprecedented crowds and total orders placed by dealers are authoritatively declared to have been in excess of anything ever before experienced. The latter-known companies declare they are away behind in delivering closed cars. A few price cuts have been offset by one in two price advances.

Textile manufacturers find that many merchants are in such need of immediate supplies that they do not stop to haggle over prices. Holiday trade appears to have exceeded expectations and left many stocks unduly depleted. The largest dry goods house in Chicago reports: "Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was larger than during the corresponding week last year. Orders from salesmen on the road were also considerably ahead of the same period a year ago. There has been an increase in mail orders received and in the number of customers in the house. Collections are considerably ahead of the corresponding period of 1932. Retail merchants from all sections report a very good January business."

The New York Stock Exchange had another million share day. Fluctuations have been irregular but without pronounced trend.

Easier money rates have facilitated the flotation of new bonds and stock issues and underwriters are reporting further offerings.

It is worth noting that a large Cuban and a Dutch East Indies issue are about to appear.

I hear rumors that very influential American banking interests are figuring on offering important blocks of corporate securities for foreign, including European, countries the moment interest conditions become tolerably propitious.

Indeed, that our leading financiers look forward to developing what might be termed the exportation of American capital on a very large scale during the current year. The prospect is that this will be by and by rather substantial shipments of gold to points where it is needed more than here.

This is one reason why it is short-sighted, in my opinion, to scatter so much gold and gold currency needlessly at home. Genuine prosperity is the fruit of the wisest distribution of wealth—and even the existing international conditions, is essential both to prosperity and wealth.

One year ago and two years ago price advances would have been hailed with satisfaction. Today, however, price advances are calculated to excite as much concern as consternation. Unless they can be kept within bounds, they will unquestionably act, first, as a brake upon prosperity and, if carried far enough, they would incite grave labor troubles and bring disaster.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and it never fails to do

BATTLE BREAKS IN DUBLIN STREETS

Irish City Again Scene of Intense Fighting

MACHINE GUNS, BOMBS USED

Public Buildings Attacked by Rebels, But Repulsed

DUBLIN — (Associated Press)—Dublin today was recovering from the most intense fighting within the city since the siege of the Four Courts. Irregular forces launched a sudden attack on several strategic points last night and although driven off by the free state troops they continued intermittent firing until early today.

The suddenness with which the fighting broke out threw the city into a state of excitement bordering on hysteria and for a short time the citizens caught on the streets fled in all directions seeking refuge from the hail of bullets. Motorists abandoned their cars and passengers lay on the floors to avoid being hit.

The heaviest onslaught of the irregulars was against the city hall upon which they concentrated a heavy fire from all sides. One of the sentries was wounded by the first volley and the windows of a passing tram car were shattered.

Almost simultaneously firing broke out in other parts of the city and for half an hour the tattoo of machine gun and rifle firing and the louder explosions of bombs could be heard. The free state troops replied vigorously and in no case did the irregulars succeed in capturing their objectives.

POINTS ATTACKED
The points attacked, besides the city hall, included the broad stone railway terminus, the telephone exchange, Portobello barracks, Collins barracks, Keogh barracks, Mount Joy prison, Kings Inn, Thompson's garage and the offices of the Freeman's Journal. A bomb was thrown

DOG IS HERO OF TRUE EPIC

Major, a large setter, was seized with a fit and lay paralyzed at Cumminsville, O., in the path of an unloading train. A passing freight prevented Major's human friends from reaching him. But Fritz, a into the newspaper plant but failed to explode. Early this morning a number of the irregulars were discovered while leaving the city. They were hidden in a lorry where they lay covered with blankets and upon their discovery by the vigilant free state troops, opened fire with revolvers. Their driver at the same time accelerated his speed and the party succeeded in breaking thru the cordon of troops to safety.

ARRA' RES CONFERENCE
FINDLAY — Representative Ray Ashcom of Hancock has arranged to hold weekly conferences with his constituents. He has obtained the use of the county law library, and will be there each afternoon.

Little airdale, rushed beneath a moving freight car, reached Major and rolled him off the track to safety. Picture shows Major (left) Fritz and their friend, Miss Anna Dumbley.

DOCTOR LOSES SUIT
COLUMBUS—Dr. Lewis M. Cope, of Springfield, chiropractor, lost his suit today in the state supreme court to compel the state medical board to issue him a certificate to practice in the limited branches on his five years experience without taking an examination.

WINS DAMAGE SUIT
COLUMBUS—Eva Partner, of Dayton, will obtain a judgment for $1,500 against the Dayton Street Railway Company as a result of personal injuries sustained when she was hit by a street car. The state supreme court today affirmed the judgment awarded by the lower courts.

TELLS OF EVENTS IN KIDNAPING

Deputy Sheriff Testifies in Louisiana Investigation

COURTHOUSE, BASTROP, La.— (United Press) — Smith Stevenson, a special deputy on the day Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards were murdered by a hooded mob, related events leading up to the attack, in the open hearing today.

"Did you see any cars of hooded men or captured men that day?" Stevenson was asked.

"Not that I remember."

"Did you hear a report that the men were seen at Collinston, that three of them had been released? Did you carry such a message to Thomas' store?"

"I heard that, but I don't remember when. I don't remember carrying any such message."

"When you had this notice that there had been a kidnaping, did you make any effort or join in any effort to locate those kidnappers and stop them?"

"No."

"Did you know there was any ill feeling in the surrounding country against any of the five persons who were kidnaped?"

"I don't know whether there was any ill feeling or not. There was talk around in different ways. I know that prior to that date, Richards had been taken out, and I had heard that a fellow by the name of Neells had been taken out, but that was about all."

"Did you know of any bitterness between these men and members of the Ku Klux Klan?"

"Why, no."

"Did you know of any bitterness between these men and Dr. B. M. McKoin?"

"I had heard that somebody had shot at Dr. McKoin, but I didn't know they were accused of it and didn't know of any bitterness."

The witness testified he had heard talk of the Klan being mixed up in the kidnaping of Daniel and Richards, but his memory was not clear as to who did the talking, or as to what was said.

FORECASTER IS REPEATER

It isn't his usual custom to repeat, from one day to the next in his prognostication, but the weatherman is guilty this time.

For he it known that his forecast of the weather program for this day is identically the same as that released Tuesday.

Fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight, that's exactly what he said yesterday, for last night and today. And it must be admitted that he apparently knew what he was talking about when he said it.

Snappy weather, with big flakes of snow filling the atmosphere and the sun peeping out occasionally from behind clouds. Sufficient to draw the weather mascot into the open for a Broadway stroll in the downtown section as well as in the more open places.

Ted intends to do a little limelighting at the prize fight tonight and for the purpose of having folks believe he is athletically inclined, his garb this day smacks the pugilistic, while his activity gives evidence of road work in preparation for a squared ring mill.

Whether he will challenge the winner of any one of the bouts Ted's manager hasn't decided. However, he'll be on hand to see that everybody gets a square deal.

WIFE PREFERS SOUTHLAND; HUSBAND SEEKS DIVORCE

Alleged refusal of Grace Rebecca Roush, Miami, Fla., to cook meals for Charles O. Roush, led to filing of an action seeking a divorce in common pleas court.

Petition sets forth that the plaintiff owns property in Lima and the defendant in Miami. He prefers the brisk winds of the northland to the balmy breezes and sheltering palms of the sunny south.

The wife is only contented in the tropics, he says. She is now in the south and holds property there worth three times the value of her husband's northern possessions.

The court is asked to grant a decree and to bar the defendant from any dower rights in Roush's property.

BLOW AIMED AT "BOTTLED DEATH"

Poison Liquor Hit by Bill Offered in Ohio Assembly

PROVIDES CAPITAL PENALTY

Dealer Would be Liable to Trial for Murder

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Amendments to the Crabbe act which would make persons who furnish or give away wood alcohol or intoxicating liquor which results in death liable to trial for murder and which would make those who solicit orders for or furnish information about the sale of distilled liquor as well as those who manufacture or sell it, subject to heavy fines and penitentiary sentences, were contained in a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator Bender of Cuyahoga-co.

Conviction of the manufacture, sale or solicitation for sale of distilled liquors would entail a fine of from $500 to $3,000 and one to five years imprisonment for the first offense and a fine of $1,000 to $5,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary for from two to ten years, for the second and each subsequent offense, under the bill. The measure would not seek to prevent the manufacture of vinegar or non-intoxicating fruit juices for home use.

STATE AID FOR BRIDGES
A measure permitting the state highway commissioner to grant at his own discretion state aid in the building of bridges and culverts in municipalities on main market or inter-county highways, was introduced in the senate by Senator Chappell of Pickaway-co. A maximum allowance of fifty per cent of the cost might be made by the state. A similar bill was vetoed by Governor Dayle during the last session and was passed by the senate over his veto, but died in the house.

Repeal of permanent franchises granted years ago to the Columbus Street Railway Company on five lines, was sought in a bill introduced by Senator Atwood of Franklin. Permanent franchises, it was said, were existent in only a few Ohio cities.

The joint resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of the senate and house to investigate commercial fishing in Lake Erie and cooperate with other states bordering the lake in making fishing laws, was adopted by the senate today and now goes to the house.

The minimum wage bill drafted by Senator Burke of Wythe, was not introduced in the senate but expected to come in later in the day. The house did not convene until 1:30 p. m.

EVOLUTION APPEARS

Evolution made its appearance before the legislature in a brief session late yesterday when Representative J. P. Brashares, Republican, Hocking-co, introduced a resolution censuring Professor Raymond C. Osborn of the department of zoology of Ohio State University, for his criticism of the recent address before the legislature of William Jennings Bryan. The resolution was scheduled for discussion today and meantime was causing much unofficial comment among members.

Professor Osborn's criticism of Mr. Bryan was contained in a newspaper interview published shortly after Mr. Bryan's appearance before the legislature last week. Mr. Osborn's statements were described by Representative Brashares as "unwarranted" and "an inexcusable breach of etiquette" and he warned all professors in state universities and colleges "to confine their class room instruction to their particular subject and not to broadcast seeds of religious doubt over the soil of public life."

BUILDING AND LOAN

Outstanding among bills introduced yesterday was one sponsored by Representative King, Republican, Stark-co, which would give the state supervision over building and loan associations similar to that exerted over state banks. The building and loan associations would be required to obtain sanction of a state superintendent of building and loan associations before they could operate and would be required to have a minimum capital of $300,000. The measure was said to have the sanction of a number of the building and loan associations of the state.

The first measure contemplating the establishment of a rural postal system also fell into the hopper yesterday. Instead of a state-wide system, however, the bill, introduced in the house by Representative Cope, Columbiana-co, would permit cities to decide whether they desired the force and would pay for them with proceeds of a tax levy not to exceed one-tenth of one mill.

COUE TAKES HIS MAGIC WORD TO WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — Dr. Emile Coue brought his magic word to the national capital today, with a member of congress scheduled to be his first patient. Representative Mansfield, of Paris, Tex., who has been confined to a wheel chair for two years as a result of a peculiar spinal trouble, arranged an appointment with the noted French healer, shortly after his arrival here today from Philadelphia. Physicians literally have given up hope of curing the congressman's affliction. Ever since the Nancy drugist came into prominence, Mansfield has been repeating "day by day, in every way I am getting better and better."

BURBANK ANSWERS CRY OF "FAKER!"

BURBANK ANSWERS CRY OF FAKER. Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, linked by recent onslaughts by Ohio State University professors, replies to his critics in the following statement written especially for NEA Service and The Lima News. Burbank directs his reply to W. M. Barrows, assistant professor of zoology at O. S. U., who charged Burbank as a faker.

BY LUTHER BURBANK
Well, thank you professor, I have never claimed anything for myself, save the right to make the best use of head, heart and hands, anything save the right to create from nature's crucible those things most necessary to the lives of men.

Yet many things have been claimed for me, most of them true, some of them quite ridiculous; especially this one, that I plier from others (by an alleged orthodox scientist).

This is not the first time my work has been imitated, but I have heard such things before, mostly long ago, but have given no answer. My products have been fully able to do that.

The flea bites because it is in this manner that the flea must sustain its life, and I am not unresentful, some of them are just pressed.

My life mission has been to create, to produce, to improve, and to do what I can for the world while yet living. I do not propose to tangle my feet in pseudo-scientific discussion and quarrel.

There are many who are resentful that I do not stop on my course and teach the science of my work in detail to others.

That problem confronted me many years ago, and several of the great universities offered most tempting salaries for such service. I decided I was a naturalist and horticulturist, not a university teacher; that if I stopped to explain, as a professor I would probably be less useful than in my own chosen field of effort and that I could be of great benefit in continuing my own special work.

What I have striven to do, I may say, by my books and scientific work, is for the benefit of my fellow passengers along the stream of life. The most noted of contemporary scientists have been kind enough to credit me with having done even that, if nothing more.

The things I have created thru more than a half century of thought and toil were born in my mind, and developed with the labor of my own hands.

I have never imported a discovery from anyone else as has been charged, and claimed it as my own. I do not need to as they can now be produced on my grounds as fast as the whole world trade can absorb and distribute them.

This whole matter is for a laugh; let the ball keep rolling.

Luther Burbank

DELPHOS STUDENTS TO DEBATE VALUE OF MOVIES

Benefits of the motion picture will be debated January 26 by members of the sophomore class, Jefferson high school, Delphos, as a part of the annual sophomore class program.

The question to be debated is "Resolved that motion pictures, as they are now conducted, are on a general average, more beneficial than detrimental to the American people."

Reading of essays will be a feature. There will also be declamations and special music, vocal and instrumental, by school musicians. A play is planned.

The program is one of a series planned for Jefferson high school.

THE ATTACK

My quarrel with Luther Burbank is not as a horticulturist, but as a self-styled scientist. He is a complete faker. No man of scientific integrity would permit himself to be sensationalized in the columns of the Sunday supplement as Burbank has done. He conducts all his work in secret and refuses to be investigated by learned societies and organizations, which is contrary to all laws of science. The Carnegie Foundation appropriated $19,000 for a complete investigation of his work and sent a representative to California, but after a few months he declared the attempted investigation was a waste of money, for Burbank kept no records of his researches and experiments and had nothing to teach science about the laws of plant growth. Professor W. M. Barrows, Ohio State University.

FRAUD IS EXPOSED BY MOTHER'S INSTINCT

PARIS. — A mother's unflinching instinct has unmasked an extraordinary imposture which in some ways resembles the world-famous Kallmeyer case of Michigan.

About a month ago a man, claiming to be Gabriel Teyssie who was killed in the war six years ago, came to the Teyssie home near Agen and announced that he was the long-missing son. He told a romantic story of being captured by the Germans and imprisoned afterward for treason and held in solitary confinement until recently when he escaped and walked all the way from Berlin. The man bore a striking resemblance to the missing man.

At first the father, mother and one of the brothers refused to believe it was their son and brother, but when the impostor related minute incidents of his boyhood he was accepted. He even had a curious impediment of speech like the missing man.

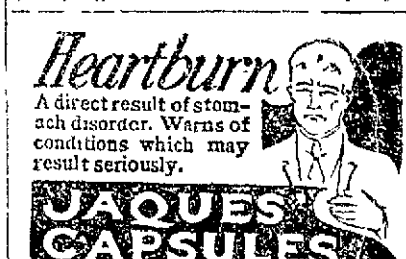

Upon demand of the mother, the man was arrested and charged with imposture. Finally he confessed that he was not the son, but a man named Oswald Dillmore.

CITY AT WAR OVER SKIRT LENGTH

Question Stirs Citizens of New Jersey Seaside Resort

REGULATION BY LAW SOUGHT

Action Demanded of Commissioners in Petition

(BY BOB DORRAN)
BRADLEY BEACH, N. J. — (Special) — Shall the mayor and the city commissioners tell the women what the length of their skirts may be?

War have begun on issues less than this. And war brews in Bradley Beach.

The thing that is keeping four city officials and two policemen awake nights and stirring women citizens to a froth of indignation is this: What shall be done with the petition, perfectly legal and regular, asking the city commissioners to declare war on long skirts?

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT?
Ignore it? Pigeonhole it? Or pass an ordinance lengthening short skirts and penalizing the wearer of a long skirt. If so, how many inches up the feminine leg shall the hem of the skirt be legal?

Women of this seaside resort are busy giving out burning statements. "It's perfectly foolish to present such a matter to a bunch of men," said Mrs. Frank C. Borden, Jr., wife of the mayor. "No man shall tell me what to wear. Women have enough good taste to decide what their own costumes shall be."

Said Mrs. Edward Bellow: "Nobody's business but ours. Skirts should be fully long and not indecently short."

"What?" said Mrs. Viola Agnew. "Ask the mayor what to wear? I'll have no man tell me—law or no law."

The four city commissioners, including the mayor, have nothing to say for publication. (All of them, it seems are married.)

POLITICS COMPLICATES ISSUE
Mayor Borden, who is also director of public affairs and safety, skillfully keeps skirts out of his conversation. Commissioners John Loggers, Bernard V. Poland and Frederic P. Kerns all change the subject when it is mentioned.

Politics have thickened the plot, too. These harassed officials come up for election in May. Short skirts votes and long skirt votes are being estimated secretly.

Patrolman Charles J. Poland, no relation to the commissioner, walks his beat trying to keep his eyes out of the hem of the skirt parade. With some indignity he contemplates the possibility of having to throw away his nightstick and arm himself with a yardstick to help him keep every skirt within the law.

Trous and skirts, meanwhile, are wearing what they please. For instance, Mrs. Elizabeth Poland, daughter of the man who may be an empire, and Mrs. Rich Hesse, one of those who wars 'em short.

PLEADS GUILTY IN ALCOHOL CASE

Defendant Admits Failing to Put in Denaturing Fluid

DAYTON — (United Press) — The trial before Federal Judge John E. Sater, in which Cecil H. Kerns and 13 others are accused of a big alcohol theft, will probably close Thursday evening, or Friday morning.

Kerns is classified as the "master mind" in the conspiracy, who was the directing head of the outfit, which is charged with unlawfully acquiring a huge amount of alcohol, which was supposed to have been denatured.

Tony Sodd, one of the defendants, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of failing to put the denaturing fluid into the alcohol before it was shipped from Tennessee. One carload of the alcohol was recovered in a series of federal raids here and the defendants placed under arrest.

Federal witnesses are being examined today. They told of the transaction with the O. I. Hermitage powder plant in Tennessee. Sig. Ornstien, of Columbus, told of introducing Kerns to the Tennessee company and collecting a commission of five cents per gallon on all alcohol sold to Kerns. The price was 20 cents a gallon.

Revenue officers related how the alcohol in question was supposed to have been denatured.

Federal attorneys stated to the jury they expected to prove that a conspiracy was organized and it was claimed that the alcohol was placed in barrels for shipment, but that it had not been denatured. Shipments are carload lots were made to Dayton, Cleveland, Chicago and Wheeling, W. Va.

The carload shipped to Joveland was never claimed, although an effort was made to reship to Columbus, it was charged. Government agents seized it.

BAKER WEDDING IS OFF FOR GOOD

Chicago Heiress Says She Will Not Marry McCormick

PARIS — (United Press) — Who, when and where Mary Landon Baker will marry, was solved by the Chicago heiress herself today in the first interview she has given on the subject.

"I'm not going to marry any one—ever," she told the United Press. "Everything is definitely off. You may announce that."

A little later, the contrary little American society girl who left Alister McCormick waiting at the altar half a dozen times before she tilted him for good, contemplated her silk-clad ankles reflectively and mused:

"Well, at any rate, if ever I do marry, it won't be a society man. They're so futile. No, I won't give you the reasons why I know and there's nobody else."

"Yes, I know it sounds mysterious, but that's a girl's prerogative. There was no quarrel with Alister. I just made up my mind, that's all."

"Yes, he's come over to Paris, too, but it won't do him any good."

KIWANIANS HERE HONOR JACKSON

BALL IS PLANNED TONIGHT

Many Visitors Here for Sessions During Day

"On to Atlanta" and "On to Cedar Point" are the slogans of the annual meeting of the trustees of the Kiwanis clubs in the Ohio District at the Hotel Argonne Tuesday.

Morning sessions of the gatherings were taken up in organization of the budget, auditing and other committees and in the discussion of plans for the international convention at Atlanta in May, and the Ohio convention at Cedar Point during August.

More than 60 Kiwanians, many from distant parts of the state, were in attendance and participated in the luncheon Tuesday noon.

Distinguished visitors included George H. Ross, Toronto, Canada, international president, and Edmund F. Arras, international trustee from Columbus. Both officers were scheduled to speak at the afternoon meeting of the trustees and at the Governors' ball at 6:30 p. m.

At the luncheon Tuesday noon the visitors mingled with members of the Lima Kiwanis club and their guests from other luncheon clubs. Short talks by local and state officers made up the luncheon program.

The gala banquet and social event of the year is contemplated in the Governor's ball to be held in the Elks' home at 6:30 p. m. in honor of Walter Jackson, head of the Ohio District of Kiwanis clubs. Nearly 400 persons are expected to attend.

Following the banquet a short entertainment program is planned before the regular talks are given by Ross, Arras and Governor Jackson. Among the artists to appear are Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Grubb.

At 9 p. m. the floor of the banquet hall will be cleared for dancing which will continue until midnight. The Apollo F. and B. orchestra of Chicago, will play.

While Ross and Arras will talk at the afternoon session of the trustees they will deliver their main addresses at the banquet meeting.

Appointment of Judge Roy H. Williams as chairman of the annual convention for the Ohio district to be held August 27, 28 and 29 at Sandusky and Cedar Point brought to light the extensive preparations which are being made by the Sandusky Kiwanians.

At least 1,500 Kiwanians from all parts of the state are expected at the sessions of the convention. The fact that the state Kiwanis convention will be held during the same week is expected to add considerably to the attendance. Herb Freeman, Sandusky, local secretary, believes.

Special features of all kinds are being arranged by the committee in conjunction with the convention committee from the Cedar Point organization and delegates are promised a continual round of pleasure sandwiched in between business sessions.

Arrangements are being made to run two special trains to the Atlanta convention. Pete Land, Akron, reported to the trustees. Committees will be appointed to consider the question of badge, delegation organization and other details.

Following the Governor's ball Tuesday night the meeting will close with a large portion of the delegates are planning to remain in the city during a part of Wednesday.

HALLORAN KILLING IS DESCRIBED

slow. I was on the north side of the walk and Bobby on the south, still looking back."

"What did you say?"

"Well, I saw Hines, and said, 'split and leave this fellow thru.'"

"I went to the north and Bobby to the south," the witness asserted.

"Hines had a box in his hand. In his left hand. Like a box of stationery."

"I hand you this box," interposed Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott, "was it like this box?"

"Yes, sir," answered Hickey. "It was about that size."

"No sir, I could not see what he had in his other hand," declared the witness indicating "he held it back of the box, like this."

"No, neither of us touched Hines, not at any time. Yes, he shot about four times. I was about a foot and a half away when he shot the first time. Bobby Halloran was about the same distance off on the south side of the walk."

"Had he hit Hines," asked Lippincott, "or said anything?"

"No, he hadn't."

Hickey told the jury that following the first shot he jumped to the west and Halloran did likewise. Not a word had been spoken on either side, he asserted.

When the boys were a few steps to the west, Hickey said he looked around and saw a gun in Hines' hand. The mulatto waiter was slowly turning around toward them, twisting his body to the west. The gun in his hand was leveled at Halloran and fired.

"Both of us started to run before the second shot was fired," Hickey declared. "No sir, not a word was said. Hines never said anything. He was holding the gun aiming at Bobby."

Halloran at this time was leaving the walk to seek shelter behind a house, the witness related. The two were approximately 15 feet away from Hines when he fired his second shot. Up to this point neither of the boys had been hit, Hickey asserted.

"When the third shot was fired," Hickey declared, "I was up the street a ways. When he shot, I jumped. I heard the bullet whiz by me."

"Then there was another shot, and I heard Bobby grunt."

"I called to him, 'did he get you?' He said something and I saw a policeman and called to him to get that fellow. That's all I saw of the fellow. I did not see him out in the middle of Union-st."

HOW HALLORAN DIED

Hickey told of going to Halloran and finding a wound that was bleeding freely in the middle of the back. The boys went to Vorkamp's drug store, 600 N. Main-st., and Halloran laid down in the rear room until the ambulance came. He died in a local hospital the following night.

On cross examination the witness was forced to retract the incidents of the evening up to the point where he and Halloran met Hines and the shooting affair started. His version of the affair was attacked by Hines counsel.

Hickey was questioned concerning his whereabouts on the night prior to the shooting and on the night before that when a man was beaten up at almost the identical point where Halloran was shot. He admitted having heard of the fight, September 7, but could not remember who told him.

A list of alterations in which Hickey was supposed to have taken part or had witnessed, formed a line of attack on his story prior to adjournment. The witness was forced to admit having struck a Greek waiter in the New Hudson lunch and having had trouble with another Greek at a pool hall at Main and Wayne-sts.

Continuing the cross examination of Hines Hickey Tuesday morning, the defense made an effort to link him up with alleged acts of violence said to have been committed by striking showmen, during the labor trouble in July and August, 1922.

MOVEMENTS TRACED

Defendant counsel also quizzed the witness concerning his movements on the night prior to the shooting and for several nights previous.

After being asked to identify two men brought into court, counsel for the defense accused the witness with the privilege of recalling him later.

Upon the ability of the defense to break down Hickey's story of the crime, will largely depend the outcome of the case.

A. W. Cantwell, who drove the ambulance which carried Halloran to St. Rita's hospital, was the next witness called to the stand.

Certain portions of his testimony were objected to by the defense. The jury was excused for 20 minutes while attorneys argued over the local points in the matter.

In order to familiarize the jury with the locality of the shooting, the members were escorted to the scene by Sheriff Harvey B. Crosson, late Monday.

Hines was head waiter of the cook house force in the B. & O. shops having charge of 19 cooks and 31 waiters employed in feeding the

HINES ON HER HANDS
Because of timidity of others, he often went out in the evening to do small errands and cash checks, it was stated. He had been out of the shops on such a mission, according to claims of his counsel.

Three attorneys are acting in Hines' defense. They are S. A. Armstrong, Ira R. Longworth and E. L. Williams, the latter a negro attorney from Indianapolis. Several negro fraternal orders of which Hines is a member, are said to have contributed to a defense fund in his behalf.

Counsel for the state is Eugene T. Lippincott, prosecuting attorney, and R. B. Trubey, assistant.

Bernard Halloran, brother of the decedent is seated with the state's attorneys in the court room and is assisting in the prosecution.

150 ARE ARRESTED IN CRIME INVESTIGATION

DETROIT—Spurred on by the ghastly murder of an aged couple, police today were engaged in a sweeping crusade against the underworld in an attempt to crush out a dangerous crime wave.

Nearly 150 thugs suspects were arrested during the night in a round-up ordered by Police Inspector Harry B. Kinney. The order was issued late yesterday, following the death in Receiving Hospital of Abraham Fleischman, 63, grocer and his wife Golda, who were beaten by two bandits who entered their store yesterday morning.

The Fleischmans were beaten with a heavy pick handle by assailants, who, it is believed, entered the store for the purpose of robbing the cash register. They left the store, however, without touching the register.

U. S. STOCK EXCHANGE REGULATION URGED

ALBANY, N. Y. — Strict governmental regulation of all stock exchanges, declared essential to the breaking up of illegal business combinations, was urged by the Lockwood joint legislative committee on housing today in its final report to the senate on its three and a half year investigation of building trusts.

The report declared that if the state would break up illegal combinations, prevent the formation of such combinations in the future, and regulate all stock transactions, the housing problem, already well on the road to solution, would be solved for all time.

With the report went eight bills designed to carry out its recommendation and a bill prepared by Samuel Untermyer, committee counsel, but not recommended by the committee—providing for state regulation and supervision of labor unions.

While the incorporation of stock exchanges would not be required by the bill on that subject submitted with the report, all exchanges, as well as all dealers in securities, would be placed under the direct supervision of the state banking department.

REJECT PLAN FOR HEATING PLANT

$1,065 Steam Outfit for $4,000 Building Denied

STREETS ORDERED PAVED

City Commission Acts on Municipal Projects

Members of the Lima city commission rejected a plan for a $1,065 steam heating plant in a $4,000 building, at the regular meeting Monday night.

An ordinance proposed by C. A. Bingham, city manager, called for the installation of a heating plant in the waterworks shop building, which cost iron pipe and other water main supplies are kept.

This building, located near the intersection of Central-av and the market house, was erected during the summer at a cost of about $1,000. In a report given the commission it was urged that the building should be heated so that automobile radiators would not freeze or workers be uncomfortable.

One of the reasons given why the heating plant is needed is the fact that the city hopes some day to move the office of the water works superintendent to the water building. This will not be for a year or so, however, it is believed.

Commissioners headed by Earl Robin demanded further information regarding necessity for the expensive heating plant and ordered the ordinance tabled until the next meeting. Commissioners hope for an early decision by the state board.

ORDER STREETS PAVED

Resolutions of necessity for pavements on Park-st between High and North-sts, Baxter-st between the Pennsylvania Railroad and Bowling-av, Atlantic-av between Ottawa and Ontario-sts, and Fairview-av between Carleton-av and Sugar-st, were adopted by the commission.

Ordinances to proceed with the paving of Collet-st between Spring and Elm-st, Woodlawn-av between Market and Hickory, Dingle-av between Harrison and Calumet-sts, Linden-av between Harrison-av and the D. T. & I. railroad and Reese-av between Second and Third-sts, were passed.

Assessments made on Pierce-st between Market and North-av were ordered returned to the board of assessors for correction. The cost of a short strip of curbing was improperly assessed, due to an error on the part of the city engineering department. It was asserted.

Permits were granted by the Water Cement & Coal Co. to vacate a alley running thru its property on E. Elm-st and establish a new alley to the north of the present passage way. The yards are to be moved to the intersection of Dana-av, Kelly-st and the D. T. & I. Railroad.

ONLY FEW DAYS FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES

With more than a quarter million dollars to collect in a five days period, Harry E. Botkins, county treasurer, again sounded a warning to the tax paying public to step on the gas and speed to his office before Saturday, the final day for paying up.

No further time extension will be accorded, he declared. The treasurer's office will be open Saturday all day. A total of $10,000 was collected on Monday.

"Don't try to be the last to pay," Botkins urges, "it may be too late."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, say a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad, you have the rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of salt water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. — Adv.

Somewhere in Nebraska Toodles fell off and was lost. Just a few days ago the dog, now grown big, showed up at the Stout home in Terre Haute, fatigued and weary and hungry. ## SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it really recommends for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds' rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble. All druggists dispense it daily for about 50 cents a tube. — Adv.

NEW NAME CHOSEN FOR CIVIC BODY

Harry Bentley President of "Board of Commerce"

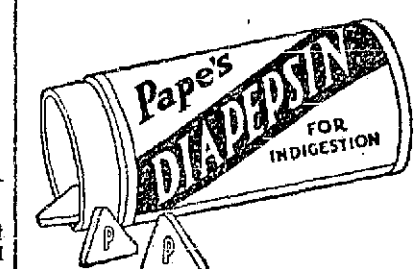

"Board of Commerce" is the name under which the merged Better Business Bureau and Chamber of Commerce will operate. It was decided at the first meeting of the board of governors Monday afternoon.

This name was selected because of the ease with which it can be spoken and because of the meaning which it instantly conveys. It is announced. Members of the board of governors felt the longer names suggested at first were unwieldy.

Officers of the new body, as elected by the governors, are: H. O. Bentley, president; L. A. Larsen and

FLAME OF LIFE

Begins To Wane Around Age 40—How Middle-Aged People Should Care for Their Health.

Human vitality begins to wane at 40, which is about the fifth age of life. People around the age of 40 are dropping out of life because they neglect to keep the human vital spark in full flame.

Most people begin to slip around the age of 40—waste poisons, impure blood, clogged intestines and bowels, sluggish liver, inactive kidneys all tend to drag you down and make the remaining years of life one of misery.

One of the greatest remedies to assist nature to relieve the system of the waste poisons is Bulgarian Herb Tea—just one or two cups of this pure, medicinal tea taken once or twice a week will prove to be wonderfully healthful. Millions are now using this marvelous remedy to keep the bowels regular and promote good health.

To break up bad colds which, when neglected, often develop into influenza or pneumonia, a cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea taken hot at bedtime gives splendid results. Its gentle laxative qualities aid nature to relieve constipation, indigestion, biliousness, stomach and bowel troubles.

Just make up your mind to keep well and strong by using this pure medicinal tea at least once each week. Just watch your health improve. You will never want to be without it. See your druggist today. He can honestly recommend Bulgarian Herb Tea. — Adv.

National Thrift Week

"SPEND TIME AND MONEY WISELY"

Get More Entertainment Out of Life

A GREAT many people fail to get the most out of life because some mental kink makes them unable to see beyond the narrow limits of Today. Although the sun-bright road to Tomorrow stretches out before them, it is obstructed by little, immediate things that really don't count.

Most of us hope to travel and see a bit of the world, to marry and maintain a respectable home, to read, rest, potter about, and enjoy life generally. But a lot of us are disappointed in our wishes. Why?

One reason is that we don't handle money right. We don't save enough of it. Living only in Today, we fail to see Tomorrow. That's a fact. That explanation may seem too easy, but it's true just the same.

National Thrift Week, which begins January 17, Franklin's birthday, offers an opportunity not only to honor this great American, but to profit by carrying out in a practical way his teachings in the art of living and the use of money.

Tomorrow is National Thrift Day. As Benjamin Franklin said, "Money is of a prolific, generating nature." Open a bank account now and deposit regularly a fixed part of your earnings. See for yourself if you don't get a whole lot more enjoyment out of life. You WILL!

Starting tomorrow is National Thrift Week. This week is set apart to encourage the slogan "Spend Time and Money Wisely." In different parts of the city there will be displays and charts as well as speakers for this occasion. The banks are distributing budget books free ---ask for one of them.

The following banks have contributed this page in behalf of Thrift Week:

$400,000,000 IN FAKE STOCKS

Figures Given Out by "Shepherd of Wall Street"

SUCKERS GIVEN WARNING

Average American is Declared Easy Mark

(BY EDWARD THIERRY)
NEW YORK.—(Special).— "America spent $400,000,000 for fake stocks last year!" That is the estimate of Charles M. Minton, the "Shepherd of Wall Street." He is head of the Minton Brothers' investigating Bureau, and his job is to keep track of crooked brokers and stock salesmen for the big exchanges.

"The average American with a little money laid by is the biggest sucker in the world," says Minton. "Why? Easy—because they won't heed warnings. They get skinned—then they holler, and when it's too late they listen to advice."

Stock swindlers are being operated in every big city, and in many small ones, he says. He declares he can name at least 150 crooked houses in New York.

MAN MOST CULLIBLE
"Man are bigger suckers than women," said Minton. "More of them fall, I mean. Women are more conservative—but when they fall they fall harder. I know one who just lost $80,000 in a fake stock deal."

"Oil stock used to be the favorite medium for gyp artists. Next came mining stocks. These are pretty well played out now. New schemes are being hatched up all the time. Radio is now being used to trap suckers."

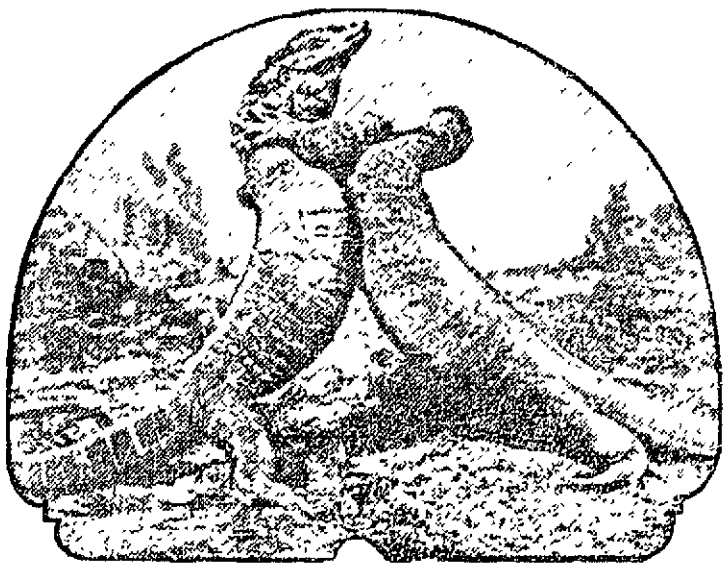

"There seems to be as many clever crooks doing business as ever. It is hard to get the goods on the bucket shops—the crooked brokers who accept orders and never execute them. They put their orders on their cuffs—and pocket the money."

"Most suckers are fleeced by gyp houses selling handsome stock certificates that mean nothing. They fit up rich looking offices and if they're exposed they get a new sign painted and move to another office or another city."

"Another class of gyp artists work in what is called a 'buller room,' or 'high pressure room'—with just a telephone and a telephone directory. They have an uncanny skill at picking names out of the book, giving a swift, sugar canvas over the wire—and actually looking cash out of at least one sucker out of every five they call. Such a crook is known as a 'dynamiter.' His first cousin is called a 'reloader'—who loads another block of stock onto a sucker in the very face of the fact that no dividends have been paid."

NAMES SELLS FOR CENT APIECE
"Sucker lists are used by many crook salesmen. You can go to half

Minton has been in Wall Street 12 years, and he thinks the public is getting more gullible every day.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mayne Edith Buchanan, 48, wife of Harry L. Buchanan, 48, of 219 W. Market St., who died Sunday night at St. Rita's hospital following an operation, will be held Wednesday at 8:30 a. m. from the St. John's Catholic church. Burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

Get health—Keep health—Feel fine by eating Kellogg's Bran regularly!

Constipation and the toxic poisons that come from it not only take the enthusiasm out of life, making you depressed and physically and mentally dull—but they lead you into chronic diseases such as Bright's, diabetes, rheumatism, etc. You can actually rid yourself of these dangers if you eat KELLOGG'S BRAN REGULARLY—at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Kellogg's Bran is nature's most wonderful food. It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that as no other food can! Don't take a chance of "getting away" with constipation—IT WILL GET YOU! Don't ruin your health with pills and cathartics—they are as dangerous as constipation itself and give but temporary relief, at the very best.

SCHWAB FAVORS MERGER OF ALL STEEL COMPANIES

NEW YORK.—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, believes that the grouping of every steel company in the country under one head would be a good thing, economically but in explaining the opposition at a banquet of state bankers last night declared he was not advocating it "for many reasons" when he did not elaborate.

He referred to the merger of the Lackawanna Steel Company with the Bethlehem Steel, of what economies would be effected in overhead and other charges by combined operation. In the two months of this combined operation, between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 had been saved, he said.

He declared that the United States would be the workshop of the world and that the outlook for industry here was so good as at present.

GOVERNORS TURN PROSECUTORS

Three State Executives Take Hand in Unraveling Crime

ANSWER: WOMEN'S PLEAS

Undertake to Solve Murder Mysteries Baffling Police

(BY EDWARD THIERRY)
NEW YORK.—(Special).—Has the machinery of the law broken down in the struggle against crime? Is one-man government to be the solution?

Questions like these are being asked as the state executives take the lead in the unraveling of crime.

Three governors within a few months in three different states have each a hand in the solution of murder mysteries that have baffled police and prosecutors. Governor Alton B. Smith of New York is the latest state executive to turn prosecutor by ordering an investigation of the famous Ward case.

In this case, as in two others preceding it, a woman made the plea for executive interference. One was a mother of a slain victim, one was a wife, and one a daughter.

WOMEN APPEALS TO GOVERNOR

Mrs. Mary Peters, mother of Clarence Peters, asked that Governor Alton B. Smith create the office of a state murder investigator. Her son had been slain in the city of New York last May near White Plains. Five or six days after the killing the governor had dismissed the indictment for first degree murder against Walter S. Ward, wealthy young vice president of the Ward Baking Company, who gave himself up last May 23 with the confession that he had killed Peters as the result of a blackmail plot. The indictment was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Mrs. Thomas F. Richards less than a month earlier made the plea to Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana that resulted in the investigation of the killing at Mer Rouge, La. Their bodies were blown by dynamite out of Lake La Fourche during the inquiry and the nation is watching efforts to place the blame for the killings, which occurred last August.

Miss Charlotte Mills, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was the first to call upon a state executive to unravel a mystery following the failure of county authorities to solve the murders of Mrs. Mills and Rev. Edward Wheeler Mall at New Brunswick, N. J., last Sept. 14.

Letters written by Miss Mills to Governor Edward L. Edwards resulted in the appointment of a special state attorney general to prosecute the case. It remains unsolved, though the inquiry has not been officially closed. In the meantime Edwards has become a United States Senator and has been succeeded by Governor G. S. Sizoo.

CHOCOLATE CANDY SCARE IS HOAX

Practical Joker "Kids" Best Scotland Yard Detectives

MANY SEND SWEETS BY POST

Real Criminal May Never be Apprehended. Claim

(BY MILTON BRONNER)
LONDON — (Special)—England is beginning to eat chocolates again. What seemed at first to be the tragedy of the poison candies addressed to the big chiefs of Scotland Yard, London's detective headquarters, has now become a comedy.

Six cheap candies enclosed in a cardboard box originally used for ladies' garters were received at the office here addressed to W. C. Bridgeman, the home secretary. Suspecting another arsenic poison plot the officials rushed the packet off for analysis. All the analysts found was a slip of paper containing these words: "Please analyze. J. K. L."

GREATEST DETECTIVE TAKEN IN
The heads of the greatest crime detective organization in the world had been taken in by a practical joker.

This latest development eased the tension wrought by a long series of incidents growing out of the attempt on the life of Sir William Horwood, the chief of the Yard, who was nearly killed by eating poisoned candies found in his office.

The police officials are still trying to make the public believe that their chief was the victim of a plot working thru the postoffice. But the opinion prevails generally that the "poison candy by post" story was created to cover a lark on part of some of the inimitable scoundrels of the Yard, who sometimes are very funny indeed.

It is believed that the poison was not inserted in the packet delivered thru the mail, but in a box of candies sent in Sir William Horwood by his daughter, Beryl, on his birthday. The man or woman who designed to take the chief's life entered his private office in the Yard, there found candies, poisoned them and left the guarded court without being challenged. After Sir William had eaten the candy more boxes arrived.

CRIMINAL STILL AT LARGE
Some were sent by the criminal themselves, with the object of concealing the lark that had so nearly cost Sir William his life. That which is now known to those who are able to obtain information other than that given out officially.

But there still remains the question of the identity of the person responsible for the attempt on the life of Sir William.
It is believed that he never will be apprehended, because there are reasons of state for refraining from laying hands on him, reasons affecting the honor of one of the proudest houses in Europe.

PAYS INCOME TAX ON BEAUTY

Maybell (shown), Baltimore beauty, has been asked by the United States to pay an income tax on her beauty, according to news dispatches. The income tax is being levied on a $100,000 price and a gown worth $1000, given to her by a Baltimore department store. She contends that the dress was a gift. Authorities say it was something earned by capitalized beauty.

PASTOR TEACHES GIRLS TO BOX

Divine Believes in Physical Prowess for Women

(BY ROY J. GIBBONS)
CHICAGO — (Special) — That Christianity needs young women who can land a physical as well as a moral solar plexus blow on its enemies is the considered opinion of the Rev. D. Logan Loughborough, assistant pastor and athletic director of Chicago's Sheridan Road Methodist Episcopal Church.

"Most every night is boxing night for the Sheridan Road parish flappers, while the boys, gathered in their gym suits, form an enthusiastic rally."

"TIME!" SHOUTS REFEREE:
"Time!" shouts the reverend referee, and two queens of the ring trot to their respective corners, ready for the fray.

"In this corner," proclaims Pastor Loughborough, now in the capacity of announcer, "Miss Beatrice Jordan." Whereat Miss Jordan, the parish featherweight star, arises and bows.
"And in this corner," continues the announcer, "Miss Jeanette Hendrickson." Miss Hendrickson also bows.
"These girls," says the announcer, "will battle six rounds to a decision."

NO PAINT SPILLED
The girls exchange powderless, rougeless smiles. They advance to the center of the ring and shake hands. Then the bout's on. The young women emit wheezing noises. They box well. There is much slugging and hair musing. However, no point is drawn. After a bit the referee declares the encounter a draw.

"Nobody," says Mr. Loughborough, "ever gets hurt. The gloves are extra well padded.
"Boxing develops nerves and eye. It makes the girl feel dependent on herself rather than upon others for protection. This increases her moral stamina. Also it beautifully illustrates the religious idea of today expressed in woman's emancipation. It's the best of exercise, besides."

SCHLATTER FINED $200
Fine of $200 and six months' sentence in the Toledo workhouse was imposed on Ed. G. Schlatter, former proprietor of the St. Elmus cafe, in common pleas court Monday on an assault charge. The case was heard on argument some time ago. The jail sentence was suspended on payment of the fine.

DANGER FACED BY WOMEN HUNTERS

Lured by Thrill in Chase of Big Game

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (Special)—Bearing marks of hardships suffered in the wilds of northern Canada where no other white women had ever dared to venture, two British sportswomen are back in civilization after a trip of nearly 7000 miles. After many years of riding to the hounds at home and fishing in Scotland, Lady Yule and her daughter of Ilbert, England, decided that such sports were rather tame. They wanted to go after big game.

A friend told them about the bull moose, grizzly bears, caribou, mountain sheep and goats of northern British Columbia. Mother and daughter looked at each other, and made up their minds.
They soon were in western Canada making arrangements for a hunting trip into the famous Cassiar near the extreme northern boundary of British Columbia.
With a guide, a wrangler to care for their horses and a long pack train, the two women went forth. Nothing was too difficult for them. Once a swarm of wasps stung them; another time they had to cut their way thru miles of fallen trees. But the women kept on.

They were bent on coming home with trophies of their hunt. Rigors of a northern winter didn't chill their enthusiasm.
And now they are back with innumerable bull moose, mountain goats, and caribou specimens. They just missed getting a grizzly bear— But they expect to go back after him soon.

Some day women will learn that cold creams externally applied will never eliminate wrinkles. Pale complexions result from wrong living. Skin must be nourished from within. Look to your diet.

Eat the food which contains the elements to nourish tissue.
Eline's Chocolate Bar nourishes tissue—is absolutely pure and easily digested. Contains no shells—no refuse. It is rich in flavor—persuasive in aroma.

Eline's Bar is marvelously smooth. It cost millions of dollars and years of time to produce it.

Eline's Bar is creamy—it contains nourishing whole-cream milk from cows that feed in the fertile fields of Wisconsin, where emerald green grass and crystal pure water combine to produce the world's best milk.

Eline's Bar is deliciously good to taste and supremely good for health, yet—it costs no more than common chocolate.

MAY STOP FREE SEED

ALLEN-CO folks who have been accustomed to receiving generous packets of free seeds—garden and flower—from their congressman in the past, may be required to forego that advantage when gentle springtime comes again.

If the original determination of congress is not revamped, it is assured that the cute little device afforded for representatives to keep in pleasant touch with their constituents will no longer be available. By a vote of 74 to 71, the house voted against spending several hundred thousand dollars annually for seeds, to be distributed gratuitously by members of that body.

Year after year the appropriation has mounted, as cost of seeds increased and the demand for supplies became more numerous. Bulbs and shrubs were added to the seed list during the past several years. The item became an enormous one and some of the members of congress, particularly those from city districts, became frightened. Reaction was feared. Several hitches were required to get a meagre majority against the seed grab, however.

When the agricultural bill, or whatever measure to which free seeds is attached gets into conference, the appropriation may be restored—and it may not. Great oaks from little acorns grow, but from free seeds mostly long, hairy radishes grow. In view of the fact that it costs $32,000 a day to maintain congress, some folks are of the opinion that it is a pretty high price to pay for free garden seeds.

You'll be hearing from Congressman John L. Cable a little later on, provided the free seed appropriation is restored. If not, John will talk about something else other than seeds and may send you a few copies of obsolete reports in lieu of something for your garden. They're no good for reading, but the leaves can be used for lamp-lighters or shaving paper. They make excellent fuel, too, but produce lots of ashes.

YOUR WEAK LINK

DID you read the remarkable story about Mrs. Adele Robertson, the New York woman who had the kidney of a sheep transplanted into her body?

The patient is dead. But the surgeons who performed the delicate operation claim that it was a success, death due to other complications. Had it not been for these complications, she might be alive now and the most interesting medical specimen in existence.

The sheep's kidney started to function much the same as a motor transferred from one flivver to another. Mrs. Robertson's blood circulated thru it and it began its normal work. Death intervened.

This kidney operation probably is the forerunner of a lot of experimental surgery. It suggests that eventually, when our vital organs give out, they may be replaced by transplanting similar organs from animals.

That already is being done with monkey and sheep glands. A famous theatrical magnate, now deceased, was reputed to have had a pig's stomach transferred to his interior, his own stomach having been removed when it wore out. Thousands have heard this story and believe it. Doctors laugh and say "Nothing to it."

What is the weakest link in your physical make-up—the internal organ that gives you the worst service and the most trouble?

How would you like to be able to climb on an operating table, inhale ether, and wake up with a new organ transplanted from an animal? An enticing dream. It might, conceivably, come true within your lifetime. Our bodies are inferior machines, despite their marvels, when compared with a watch or motor. Will surgical mechanicians come to the rescue?

SCIENCE OF MAKING MONEY

JACKIE COOGAN, according to his press agents, is to have a steady income of $1,500,000 a year. Pretty good, for a lad of eight.

The case is an exception to the so-called platitudes that tell us success comes only by hard work, thrift and perseverance. However, it's a true rule that still holds good for most of us. Exceptions prove the rule that holds good for the average. And there are very few Jackie Coogans. Put him out selling newspapers or delivering parcels, and he'd not make any more than other boys.

Moral: Money success depends more on the line of work you follow than on the way you do the work. Follow a profitable road. It's as easy to earn $100 in some industries as $1 in others.

Shortage of magnifying glasses is reported, so perhaps they are being used by artists who design seed catalogs.

THE IMPAIRED HEART

An individual who has heart disease is likely to succumb, finally, to some other disease. For the greater part, the popular notion that heart disease brings swift death without warning is based upon the fine old custom of untrained "coroners" who assumed the deceased had heart failure if they discovered no indications that he had been poisoned or kicked to death.

In a large share of all cases of valvular disease, "leakage" as it is popularly called, the distortion of the heart valve is an insidious process of which the victim is unaware. It occurs in the course of, or shortly after such common illnesses as tonsillitis and ordinary sore throat for which the sufferer may not even remain in bed. The germs responsible for the throat condition, usually of the strain or type called streptococci or perhaps pneumococci, find their way to the lining of the heart and lodge upon one of the valves, setting up an inflammatory reaction there. The inflammatory reaction is called endocarditis (inflammation of heart lining.) It may produce such slight symptoms or signs that the trouble will be overlooked, unless the physician is alert. But the scar following the inflammation distorts the delicate heart valves so that they do not close as perfectly as they formerly did, and from that time there is more or less backflow of blood with each heart beat. The heart, thereafter, must do greater work constantly, in order to maintain the circulation, it must pump enough blood to compensate for the back-flow or "leakage." The heart must therefore enlarge, develop greater muscular power, to accomplish this heavier work, if the individual is to do the same amount of work or play he formerly did.

Now there are many other things beside valvular damage that may impair the heart. The heart muscle is sometimes damaged by reason of a faulty blood supply to the muscle thru thickened or narrowed arteries, or by poisons in the blood supply, such as alcohol, diphtheria toxin, pneumonia toxin, so that the valves are all clear enough, no carbon accumulations or anything, but the compression is weak.

Again, the heart muscle may be enlarged and highly developed, as by athletic training, and then be injured by excessive strain, as in the immature youth who attempts to "train" all in a few short weeks for such a severe test as a football game or a marathon race, and a kind of sudden stretching or giving of the heart muscle occurs (doctors call this dilation of the heart.) From such an injury the victim recovers slowly if at all. Often he carries a handicap thruout life—the heart remains impaired.

An impaired heart does not manifest itself by pain or by palpitation,

ONE REASON housewives prefer Pillsbury's Best is because foods made from Pillsbury's stay fresh much longer. Why? The answer is found in its rich gluten content.

Gluten, which is the most nourishing part of the wheat, has unusual qualities of absorption. It is the gluten cells that take up and hold water and milk. Because Pillsbury's Best absorbs more of these liquids, it makes more foods per sack and is most economical. Likewise it makes better foods, and the moisture in them keeps them fresh much longer.

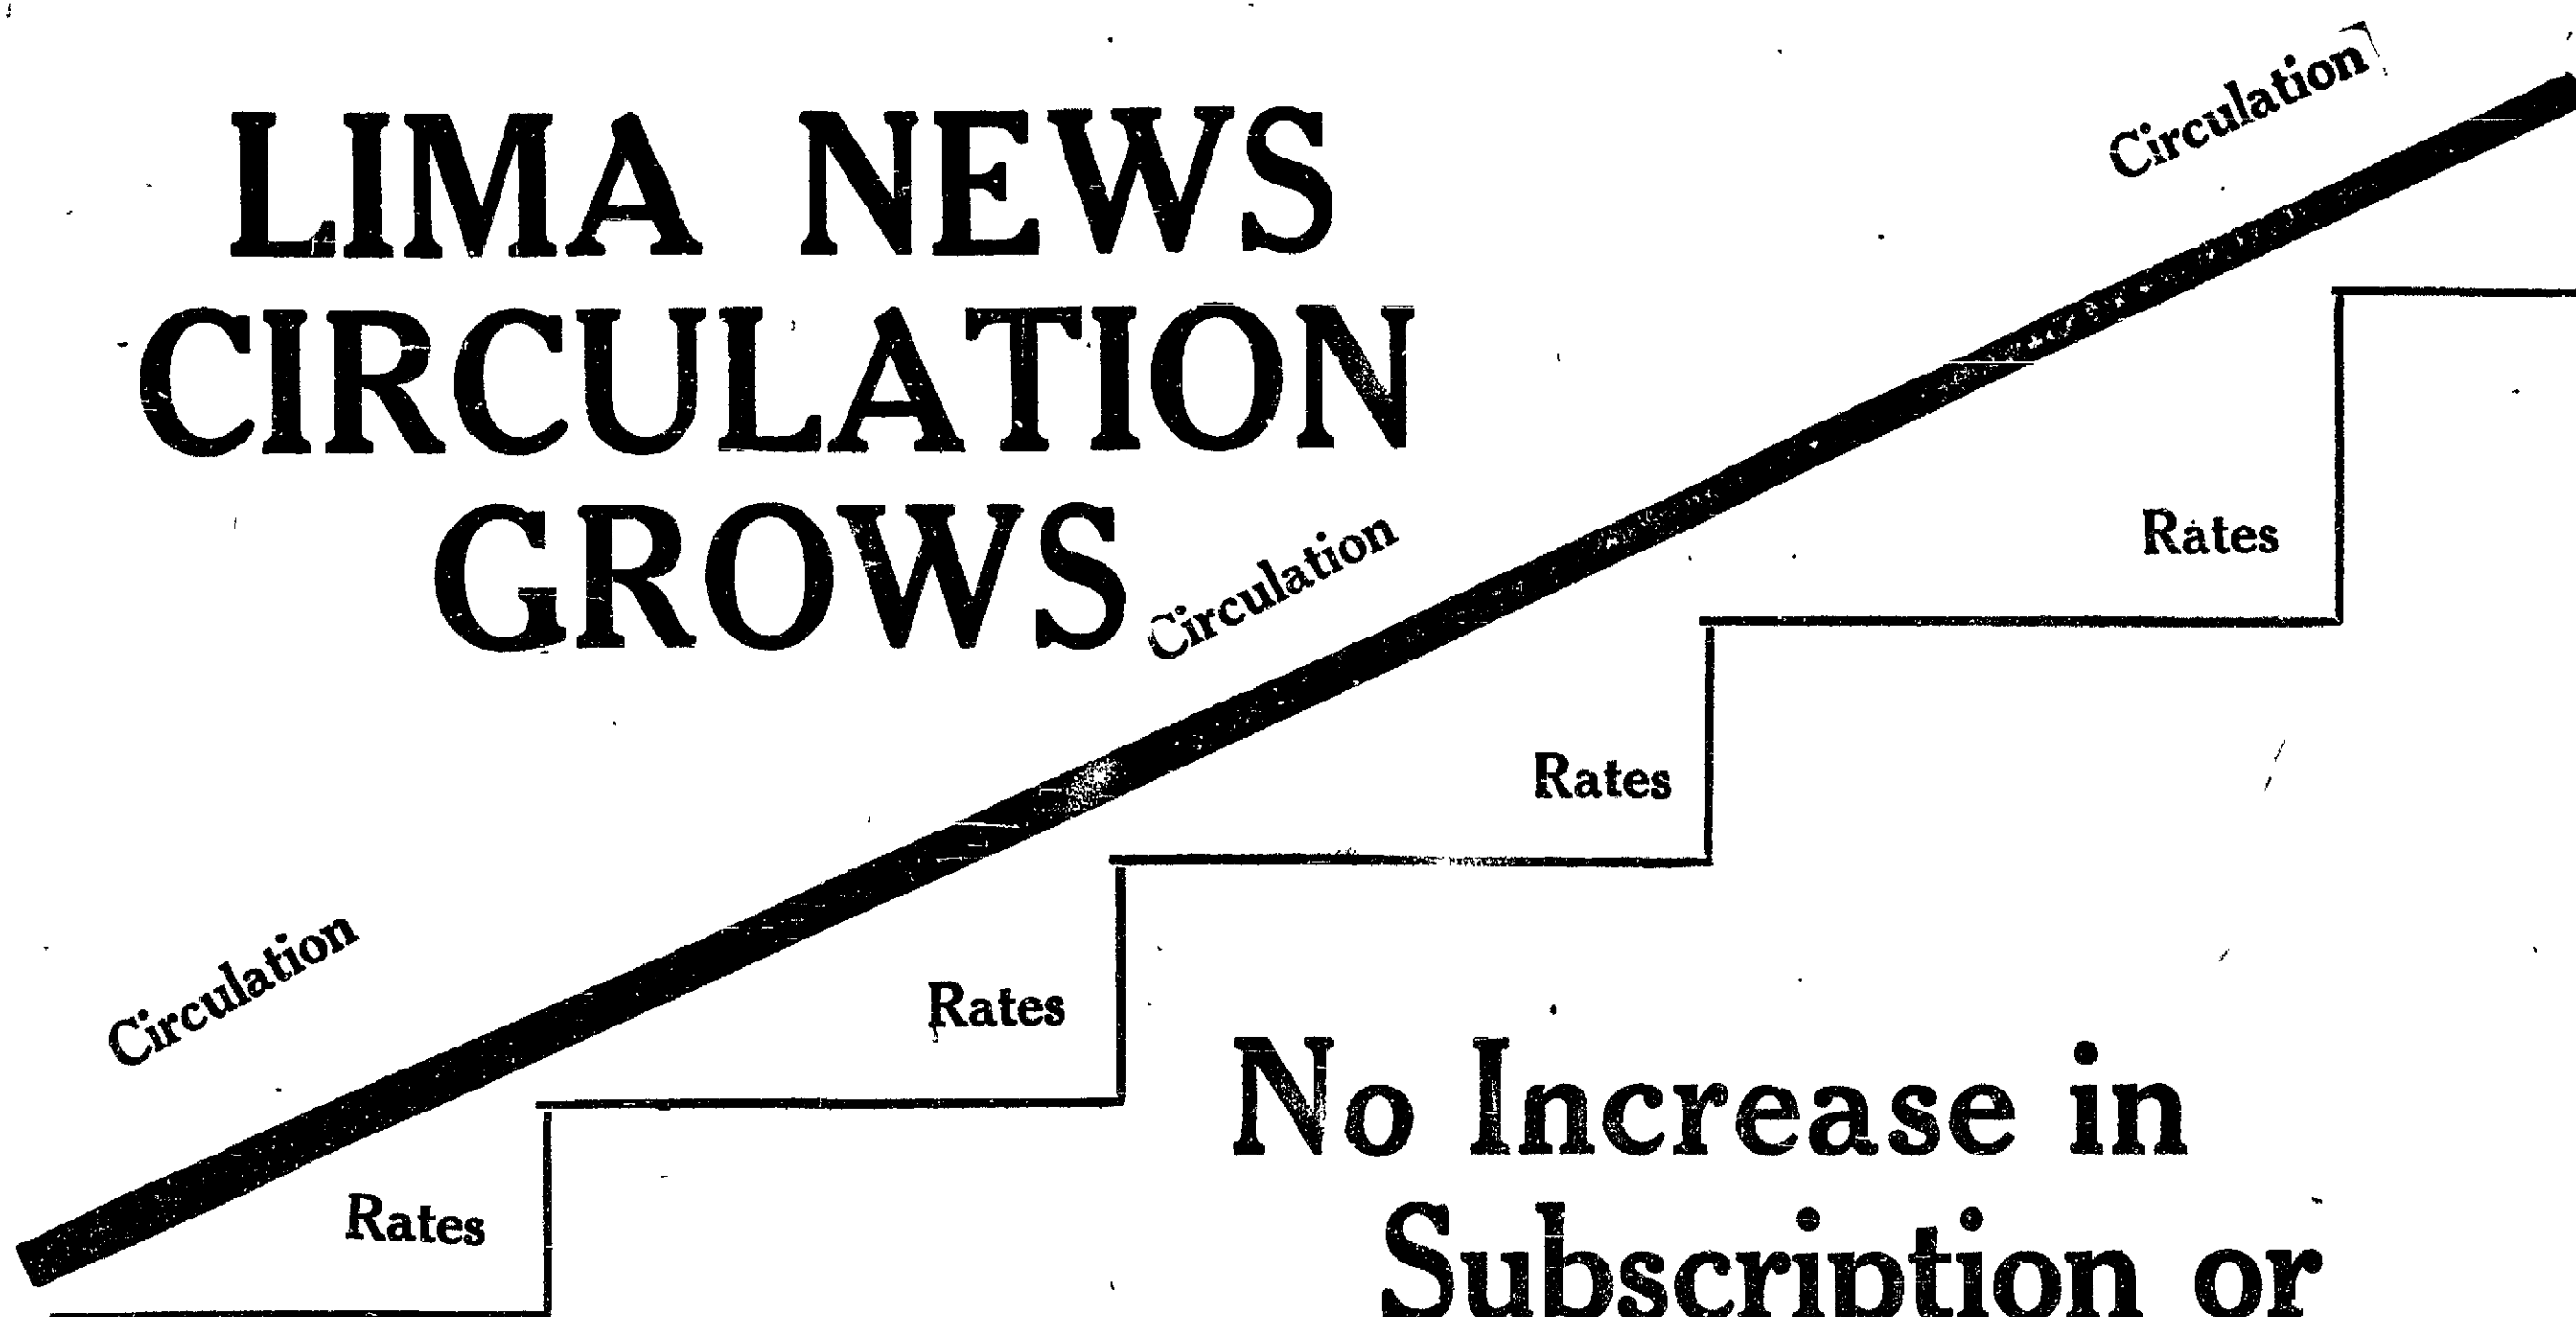

Purchase a sack of Pillsbury's Best today. Note the creamy-white color which is proof of high grade wheat and a rich gluten content.

LIMA NEWS CIRCULATION GROWS

No Increase in Subscription or Advertising Rates

BEING an aggressive, expanding newspaper, The Lima News steadily increases the number of its readers. This rising circulation makes necessary rate adjustments as shown in the diagram above. The present increase in News rates is necessitated by the following developments since May 1st, 1920, when News rates were last adjusted:

FOREIGN ADVERTISING RATES of VARIOUS OHIO NEWSPAPERS

	Population	Circulation	Rate Paid
Cincinnati Enquirer	401,247	70,204	3.50
Akron Times	203,485	17,482	.98

NEWS ADVERTISING RATES FOR LIMA MERCHANTS

Minimum advertising rates on The Lima News will not be increased at this time, despite circulation increases.

Contracts for one year will be offered Lima Advertisers, guaranteeing them protection for one year, based solely on NUMBER of INCHES and INSERTIONS EACH WEEK.

The Lima News minimum local rate is earned only on four insertions per week, on designated days, of not less than ten inches each insertion, or 40 inches total per week.

THE requirement of regular four times a week to earn the minimum rate will be strictly enforced during 1923. For over half the months of 1922, Lima News MINIMUM Rates were less than actual per inch cost on production.

Mr. Andrew J. Gruber, advertising manager, is in full charge of all adjustments for 1923.

TOTAL CIRCULATION

	Daily	Sunday
December, 1922	16,152	16,505
April, 1920	12,086	12,378
Increase	4,066	4,127

It will take HUNDREDS of TONS more newsprint per year to send the messages of News advertisers to News readers during 1923 than it would take to send them to the number of readers we had before the war. In proportion to present circulation The News advertising rates are LOW! The lowest in the state of Ohio.

In comparison with advertising rates in other cities The News Local advertising rates are LOW!

In comparison with advertising rates charged by other Lima newspapers The News' advertising rates are LOW!

It is good business to buy space in a medium which is repeatedly forced to raise its rates because the advertiser during the latter half of any contract period is receiving much more circulation than was contemplated when the rate was fixed. It is as though one bought coal at $10 a ton for a year beginning in January, but found that in February the coal merchant delivered 2100 pounds to the ton; in March 2,200 pounds; in July, 2,400 pounds, and so on.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl 17 years old. I have a very dear girl chum and we go out together quite often. Two very nice boys have followed us several times. They are not bold and we know that they want to meet us. We have heard that they come from highly respected families. Now we want to ask your advice. Do you think that it would be all right for us to speak to them the next time we see them?

INQUISITIVE
If these young boys were really nice and respectable as you stated they are, they would not follow strange girls and conduct themselves in such a bold and ungentlemanly manner.

It is evident that you have given them some encouragement or they would not have persisted in making these advances.

Pay no attention whatever to these boys unless you or they find someone who can properly introduce you. Attentions such as these boys are offering you really mean nothing, and only indicate that they have little respect for both of you.

Dear Miss Smart:
As a reader of your column I have come to you for advice. You may think I am very foolish, but it means all the world to me. I am a girl 17 and have been keeping company with boys two years. I have never had friends like other girls of my age, because when I went with one boy I was to go with that boy only. I wasn't permitted to have more than one boy friend at a time. Now I have been going with a young man 21 years old for six months. He is a perfect gentleman in every respect. I love him and I know he loves me. We are engaged to be married when I become of age. He has been saving for a home for us. My folks knew we were engaged to be married over a month ago and it seemed to be satisfactory until the other evening. Mother became angry with me. Now my father and mother ask me to break my engagement with him and not go with him any more. Please tell me what to do, as I do not want to give up all after a Golden Gilt Shampoo.

I have never had friends like other girls of my age, because when I went with one boy I was to go with that boy only. I wasn't permitted to have more than one boy friend at a time. Now I have been going with a young man 21 years old for six months. He is a perfect gentleman in every respect. I love him and I know he loves me. We are engaged to be married when I become of age. He has been saving for a home for us. My folks knew we were engaged to be married over a month ago and it seemed to be satisfactory until the other evening. Mother became angry with me. Now my father and mother ask me to break my engagement with him and not go with him any more. Please tell me what to do, as I do not want to give up all after a Golden Gilt Shampoo.

Dear Miss Smart:
As a reader of your column I have come to you for advice. You may think I am very foolish, but it means all the world to me. I am a girl 17 and have been keeping company with boys two years. I have never had friends like other girls of my age, because when I went with one boy I was to go with that boy only. I wasn't permitted to have more than one boy friend at a time. Now I have been going with a young man 21 years old for six months. He is a perfect gentleman in every respect. I love him and I know he loves me. We are engaged to be married when I become of age. # CAPTAIN BLOOD

BY RAFAEL SABATINI

Miss Bishop sat bemused, her brows knit. At last his lordship broke the silence.

"He amazes me, this man," said he, in his slow, languid voice that never seemed to change its level. "That he should alter his course for us is in itself matter for wonder; but that he should take a risk on our behalf—that he should venture in to Jamaica waters.... It amazes me, as I have said."

Miss Bishop raised her eyes, and looked at him.

"What is still more amazing is that he does not hold us to ransom," said she at last.

"It's what you deserve." "Oh, and why, if you please?" "For speaking to him as you did."

"I usually call things by their names."

His lordship stared at her. Then he half-closed his large, pale eyes, and tilted his head a little. "I wonder why you hate him so," he said softly.

"Hate him? Lord! What a thought! I don't regard the fellow at all."

"Then ye should, ma'am." His lordship spoke his thought frankly. "He's worth regarding. He'd be an acquisition to the King's navy—a man that can do the things he did this morning."

Miss Bishop was moved to sarcasm.

"You should use your influence with my Lord Sunderland to have the King offer him a commission." His lordship laughed softly. "Faith, it's done already. I have his commission in my pocket." And he increased her amazement by a brief exposition of the circumstances. In that amazement he left her, and went in quest of Blood.

He found the Captain pacing on the quarter-deck. With the amiable familiarity he used, Lord Julian slipped an arm thru one of the Captain's, and fell into step beside him.

"What's this?" snapped Blood, whose mood was fitful and raw. His lordship was not disturbed.

"I desire, sir, that we be friends," said he suavely. Then he proceeded to explain himself and his mission.

When he had done, Captain Blood, who until that moment had stood still under the spell of his astonishment, disengaged his arm from his lordship's, and stood squarely before him.

"You're my guest aboard this ship," said he, "and I still have some notion to decent behavior left me from other days, thief and pirate though I may be. So I'll not be telling you what I think of you or daring to bring me this offer, or any Lord Sunderland—since he's your kinsman—for having the impudence to send it. But it does not surprise me at all that one who is a minister of James Stuart's should conceive that every man is to be seduced by bribes into betraying those who trust him." He flung out an arm in the direction of the waist, whence came the half-melancholy chant of the lousing buccaners.

"Can you misapprehend me?" cried Lord Julian, between concern and indignation. "That is not intended. Your followers will be included in your commission."

"And I've think they'll go with me to hunt their brethren—the Brethren of the Coast? On my soul, Lord Julian, if ye yourself does the misapprehending."

His lordship fetched a heavy sigh. "A pity," he said slowly. "Oh, blister me—a cursed pity!" He held out his hands, moved to it on a sudden generous impulse. "But no offense between us, Captain Blood."

"Oh, no offense. But... I'm a thief and a pirate." He laughed without mirth, and disregarding the proffered hand, swung on his heel. The Service of King James CHAPTER XXI

Miss Arabella Bishop was aroused very early on the following morning by the brazen voice of a bugle and the insistent clanging of a bell on the starboard side.

In his cabin on the starboard side Lord Julian, disturbed by the same sounds, was already astir and hurriedly dressing. When presently he emerged under the break of the poop, he found himself staring up into a mountain of canvas.

By the rail, immediately above and behind Lord Julian, stood Captain Blood in altercation with a one-eyed man, whose head was swathed in a red cotton kerchief, whose blue shirt hung open at the waist. As his lordship, moving forward, revealed himself, their voices ceased, and Blood turned to greet him.

"Good morning to you," he said, and "I've blundered badly, so I have. I should have known better than to come so close to Jamaica by night. But I was in haste to land you. Come up here. I have something to show you."

Wondering, Lord Julian mounted the companion as he was bidden. Standing beside Captain Blood, he looked astern, following the indication of the Captain's hand, and eyed on in his amazement. There, not more than three miles away, was land—an uneven wall of vivid green that tilted the western horizon. And a couple of miles this side of it, bearing after them, came speeding three great white ships.

"They're no colors, but they're part of the Jamaica fleet," Blood chuckled without excitement, almost with a certain listlessness. "When dawn broke we found ourselves run to meet them. We went about, and it's been a race ever since. But the Arabella's been at sea these four months, and her bottom's too full for the speed we're needing."

A gun boomed out behind them. "That'll be the signal to lie to," said Blood, in the same listless voice; and he fetched a sigh.

Wolverstone squared himself defiantly before his captain.

"I'll see Colonel Bishop in hell or ever I lies for him." And he spat, presumably for purposes of emphasis.

Came the roar of a second gun, and a round shot splashed the water close to his feet. Captain Blood leaped over the rail to speak to the fair young man immediately in the helmsman at the wheel.

"Bid them take in sail, Jeremy," he said quietly. "We lie too."

But Wolverstone interposed again. "Hold there a moment, Jeremy!" he roared. "Wait!" he swung back to face the Captain, who had placed a hand on his shoulder and was smiling at him wistfully.

"Steady, Old Noddy! Steady!" Captain Blood admonished him.

"Steady, yourself! Peter. Ye've gone mad! Will ye doom us all to hell out of tenderness for that cold skin of a girl?"

"Our glances met, sullen defiance braving dull anger, surprise, and..."

"There is no question," said Blood. "of surrender for any man aboard save only myself. If Bishop can be won to England that I am taken and hanged, he will magnify himself and at the same time gratify his personal rancor against me. I'll send him a message offering to surrender aboard his ship, taking Miss Bishop and Lord Julian with me, but only on condition that the Arabella is allowed to proceed unhindered."

"It's bargain he'll never be offered," retorted Wolverstone, and his earlier vehemence was as nothing to his vehemence now. "Ye're surely daft even to think of it, Peter!"

"Not so daft as you when you talk of fighting that." He flung out an arm as he spoke to indicate the pursuing ships, which were slowly but surely creeping nearer. "Before we've run another half mile we shall be within range."

Wolverstone swore elaborately, then suddenly checked. Out of the tail of his single eye he had espied a trim figure in gray silk that was ascending the companion. So engrossed had they been they until now they had not seen Miss Bishop come from the door of the passage leading to the cabin. And there was something else that these three men on the poop, had failed to observe. Some moments ago Ogile, followed by the main body of his gun-deck crew, had emerged from the booby hatch.

Captain Blood bared his head and bowed silently in a greeting which Arabella returned composedly and formally.

"What is happening, Lord Julian?" she inquired.

As if to answer her a third gun spoke from the ships toward which she was looking intent and wondering.

"They are ships of the Jamaica fleet," his lordship answered her.

It should in any case have been sufficient explanation. But before more could be added, their attention was drawn at last to Ogile, who came bounding up the broad ladder, and to the men lounging aft in his wake, in all of which, instinctively, they apprehended a vague menace.

At the head of the companion, Ogile found his progress barred by Blood, who confronted him, a sudden sternness in his face and in every line of him.

"What's this?" the Captain demanded sharply. "Your station is on the gun-deck. Why have you left it?"

Thus challenged, the obvious treachery faded out of Ogile's bearing. But it gave no pause to the gunner's intention. If anything it increased his excitement.

"Captain," he said, and as he spoke he pointed to the pursuing ships. "Colonel Bishop holds us. We're in no case either to run or fight."

Blood's height seemed to increase, as did his sternness.

"Ogile," said he, in a voice cold and sharp as steel. "Your station is on the gun-deck. You'll return to it at once, and take your crew with you, or else..."

But Ogile, violent of mien and gesture, interrupted him.

"The men are of my thinking, and they'll have their way."

"And what way that be?"

"The way to make us safe. We'll neither sink nor hang while we can help it."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Adventures of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mike Mole sat at his front door just across from Munch Mouse's house in the basement of Maple Tree Flat.

Mike was lonely and sad. As he said, he hadn't seen a living soul hardly since cheeky Jack Frost came around Chris Crow and old Oscar Owl were about the only ones and, dear knows, Mike said he would rather see a good case of epilepsy come his way than either of them.

Mike couldn't see so very well in the daylight, but he knew by Chris' scratchy "caw" and Oscar's hollow "hoot" that his enemies were poking around looking for him.

But this was the least of Mike's troubles. His little tum tum was almost empty, for he lived on earthworms and the earthworms and grubs had gone down ten feet under the ground at the first sign of Jack Frost, and stayed there. Mike was a good digger, but—ten feet! One would have to have hands like steam shovels to go that far!

"Well, I s'pose winter has come to stay," said Mike.

"Who's talking to himself?" asked a voice.

It was Nancy and Nick followed by Dusty Coat, the little dwarf samdman.

"It's Mike Mole!" declared Nick.

"Hello, Mike!"

"Hello!" said Mike happily. He liked Nancy and Nick and was always glad to see them. He was extra glad now as he was so lonely.

"Mike, this is Mr. Dusty Coat. Mr. Dusty Coat, this is Mr. Mike Mole," introduced Nancy.

"How'd y' do," said both of them.

Nancy and Nick went with Dusty Coat, the dwarf, to hunt for Buster Glimmon Rear, the little bear boy who loved honey so.

They found Buster easily because of his large footprints in the soft snow. They led up a steep mountain side, straight for some rocks where Buster loved to loaf among the trees.

Buster was sitting on the cold ground looking lonesome and forlorn, his funny feet with their long toes and patent leather soles sticking straight out in front of him. His sharp little peering eyes were looking miles away at nothing.

"A penny for your thoughts, Buster," cried Dusty Coat.

"Gimme ten cents and I'll tell you," said Buster. "A penny wouldn't buy the wooden box off a honeycomb nowadays!"

"All right!" smiled Dusty Coat.

"I'll give you something better still if you'll tell us what you were thinking about."

"I was wondering," said Buster promptly, "what had become of the picnic."

"Picnics! Goodness! gracious! Why, 'cause! There were always a lot of scraps left—bits of cake and pieces of sandwiches and bread and jelly—and when I think of the nice juicy scraps of ham, um yum! I nearly cry, so I do. Do you know what has become of the picnic?"

"Yes, I'll tell you, Buster," said Nancy. "Jack Frost has chased them away. Snow and picnics don't go together. You'll have to wait until next summer and then the picnics will come again."

"Next summer!" cried Buster, jumping to his feet and dancing around. "Why, I'll be starved by that time. Why, there's not even any honey in the trees any more. I can't find a bit—What'll I do?"

"Listen, Buster," said Dusty Coat, opening up his bag and shaking out a little powder. "If you sniff up a little of this magic snuff, you'll go to sleep and have the lovely dreams all winter long."

"Bout picnics and ham and honey?"

"Yes, sir!"

"All righties," said Buster with a grin. "Give me some right now." (To Be Continued)

MEMORIAL HALL BOXING SHOW LOOKS GOOD TO FANS.

CARD IS FAST

One of the biggest crowds to attend a boxing exhibition in several months will be on hand at Memorial Hall at 8 p. m. Tuesday when the Lima Gym club presents Andy Bowen and Willie Ames in the 12-round finale of their show.

Advance sale of tickets has been very heavy and with the reservations which have been made, it is safe to say that the hall will be packed with lovers of fistie bouts.

And just as Memorial Hall is filled with spectators, the ring is going to be packed with punches. Every bout on the program will be an affair where both boys will stay in and battle Ames and Bowen both are practical by the same style of fighting and both are speedy enough to slip in some real blows, one of which might turn out to be a haymaker. Both are eager for the going and both are in the pink of condition.

Ames arrived in Lima Monday afternoon and Bowen, who has been training at Fort Wayne came to Lima Tuesday morning. Both Ames and Bowen had little trouble in making weight.

In the semi-final between Red Young and Hammering Howie, of Jersey City, fans expect to see a lot of action. Red is said to be going better than ever and Howie, who worked out at the Southside high school Monday, looks to be a class fighter. Howie is a victim of over 200 barbs and he can be depended upon to give Red a merry chase.

Jimmy Andrews and Young Scotty will furnish the main preliminary and this affair is also expected to be a battle. Tuesday night's program will read as follows: Willie Ames, vs. Andy Bowen, Washington, D. C., 12 rounds at 120 pounds.

"Hammering" Howie, Providence, R. I., vs. Red Young, Lima, 10 rounds at 150 pounds.

Young Cardono, Lima, vs. Young Ryal, Lima, 4 rounds at 123 pounds.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

By DILLY EVANS

NO. 14—THE MOST AMUSING SITUATION I EVER SAW

TO Dave Altizer goes the credit of creating the most amusing situation I have ever seen on the ball field. It so happened that I was forced to play the leading role in the episode, since I was the only one who had all been in earnest. Dave would probably have been suspended for life for the way he handled me.

Altizer had just been released by Cleveland to Chicago. Now if there is one thing a player likes to do, it is go well against a club that has turned him loose.

Late in the game with one down Altizer I asked first on a hit. The next batter gave him the hit and ran sign. Altizer was on with the pitch. The batsman sent a terrific line drive right into the hands of George Stovall, playing first base. Stovall merely stepped on the bag, completing a double play and setting the side.

As Altizer roared second the Chicago coach at third yelled, "Slide Dave, slide." Altizer went into the bag feet first. Stovall, seeing the box, threw the ball over second to center field.

Getting to his feet Altizer dashed for third. Joe Birmingham got the ball and threw it badly to Bill Bradley at third and Altizer kept on his way to the plate. The throw to the plate beat Altizer, but the Cleveland catcher purposely missed him.

He delayed the game at least five minutes before he would take his position.

It was not until the next inning that he learned that he had run wild after being a sub on up. First The he apologized. It sure was a comical episode.

TOMORROW—The funniest play I ever saw.

He was the funniest sight I ever saw on the ball field, raincoat buttoned high up, umbrella in one hand, glove on the other.

"That was too much for Evans," he called it.

No ball player in either major league takes better care of himself than Stanley Harris, star second sacker of the Washington team.

Harris, always fit, never carries an ounce of superfluous flesh, and right now is easily the best second baseman in the American League, Collins excepted. He is the former successor of the White Sox star.

Next to baseball, Harris likes his golf. During the playing season he cuts down the golf game, but in the winter goes in for it strong.

Inside of a week Harris will be at the training camp of the Nationals at Tampa, Fla., to do the fact it will be many weeks before the other players report.

Harris likes golf and Tampa and spends the greater part of his winter there. He will be in when the Nationals arrive.

Wrestling promoters in Lima are trying to get a line on a number of mat artists.

A wrestling match is being talked about for the city sometime in the future, provided it is possible to obtain a sufficient number of good wrestlers to work here.

The following men, who have wrestled in other parts of the country, and who are thought to be in Ohio, are asked to get in touch with the Sporting Editor of the Lima News.

Cyclone Burns, Farmer Burns, Joe George Lathem, and any other boys who are interested.

GAMES TO BE GOOD

Two real basketball games will be presented to Lima cage followers Wednesday night when the Y. M. C. A. quintet meets the Marion Y outfit at the Y. M. C. A. and the Lima Leads play the Ada Collegians at St. Rose auditorium.

The preliminary game at the Y. M. C. A. will be between the South Side Church of Christ and the First Baptist Sunday school. The main fracas will start at 8 p. m. as will the Lima Leads-Collegian battle.

Both games will draw large crowds of followers. The Leads have been established for several years and have always played a large percentage of home games until this season. The game Wednesday night is the first home contest of the year, and because the five has been traveling at a great pace, old fans will witness the fracas to satisfy themselves that the quintet is the same as ever. The Leads will try to break the Collegian winning streak, which started the first of the season.

At the Y. M. C. A., the triangle team will put up a stiff battle against Marion. J. P. Maxwell, physical director, who has been coaching the outfit has built up a strong five in a very short time.

Three Scholastic Cage Teams To Play Friday Night

Scholastic basketball for the week will be concentrated on Friday night. St. Johns, which was scheduled to play LaFayette Tuesday night at St. Johns, announced that the affair had been postponed until Friday. Central also plays Ada high at the Central gym Friday night while St. Rose will travel to Port Wayne.

South will rest Friday, but will be host to Leipsic Saturday evening. St. Johns is planning to stop forward in scholastic cage ranks by winning over LaFayette. Central holds a two-point victory over the team, and should St. Johns top the visitors, the south-side school would be entitled to considerable attention in the cage world.

With a small student body from which to draw a team, St. Johns has been playing a line brand of basketball and the game Friday will be test, without doubt.

Central is looking forward to the battle at Central gym Friday night in order to obtain an insight as to their chances of winning the Blount tournament. Ada came out victorious last season and the 1923 team is the same with one exception. St. Rose, also, is expecting great things from their Friday game. The quintet is perfecting its offensive play and by the end of the season expects to have one of the toughest teams in this section of the country.

South, on the other hand, does not figure on severe competition in this week's game. Leipsic should not cause the Blue and Gold eagles much trouble and practice, at South, for the week, will be in preparation for the first South-Central clash which is scheduled for February 2.

Ebbets said he was willing to sell Zack Wheat who has been looking for more money than the Brooklyn club could pay.

GREB AND SIKI TO BATTLE

PARIS—Battling Siki has been matched conditionally against Harry Greb for a bout next May according to Le Journal. The match is subject to the condition that Siki previously defeat an opponent whose name will be announced soon.

CINCINNATI — Speedy Sparks, Cincinnati middleweight, knocked out Indian Rodger, Chicago, in the sixth of a scheduled 10 round bout.

PITTSBURG—Harry Greb, American light heavyweight champion, won the newspaper decision over Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia.

Use a Lean Mixture the Year Around*

Red Crown Gasoline is Refined to Meet the Severe Conditions of Winter Driving.

YOU can operate your car with entire satisfaction—even in the coldest weather—on the same lean, economical mixture of Red Crown as in summer. Use the choke to provide the richer mixture required for starting, but always return this adjustment to normal driving position as soon as the motor warms up. To bring the motor quickly to the correct operating temperature cover part of the radiator surface in extreme weather.

A lean mixture of Red Crown will give satisfaction in winter as well as in summer because this Company refines it to special winter-time standards. It is not necessary to pay a premium for the quick-starting qualities of "high test" gasoline. The Red Crown you buy today at service stations and at dealers has the greater volatility which starts your motor easily in cold weather. And it is still the gasoline with the complete chain of boiling points, with the heat power and range required to operate a motor efficiently under all the varying conditions of weather, engine speed and load.

The complete chain of boiling points in Red Crown and their effect in the automobile engine may be compared to the action of the paper, kindling and coal in the ordinary grate fire.

The low initial boiling point—like the paper in the grate—gives quick, easy starts. The intermediate boiling points—the "kindling"—give smooth acceleration. And the higher boiling points—the "coal"—give full power and mileage.

Every Time the Spark Jumps it Sets Off a Well-Laid Fire

Red Crown successfully meets the unusual demands of winter driving. It gives quick motor starts, brisk pickup, full power and long mileage. None of its established economy qualities have been sacrificed for easy starting and it is not sold at a premium price.

CHAPLIN ART GROWT SHOWN IN "THE PILGRIM"

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

THE art of even so consummate an artist as Chaplin mellowed with the years and with usage. Chaplin is a better actor in "The Pilgrim" than he has been in any other film.

Chaplin is an escaped convict in "The Pilgrim." He swaps clothes with a minister who is bathing. After a comic episode, in which an eloping couple try to persuade him to marry them, he arrives in a small Texas town where a new minister is expected.

The deacon has a bottle on his hip. Charlie purloins it. They both slip on a banana skin and fall together. The bottle is broken, the deacon thinking it is in his pocket. At the church Charlie is introduced as the preacher. He takes as his text the conflict between David and Goliath. In pantomime he shows how David slew the giant. Then he rushes from the altar. A small boy claps his hands and Chaplin returns to bow for the applause.

He is introduced to a widow and her daughter at whose house he is to board. On the way from church he is recognized by a former fellow convict—who follows to the widow's home, where he introduces himself as an old college chum of the new parson.

Visitors arrive and are introduced to Chaplin. A little boy repeatedly puts Chaplin in the face. Chaplin puts him in front of his father, who sends him back to Chaplin. Chaplin sends him to his mother, who also sends him back. The boy picks up some fly-paper. Chaplin lifts the boy to his father and pushes the fly-paper against the father's face.

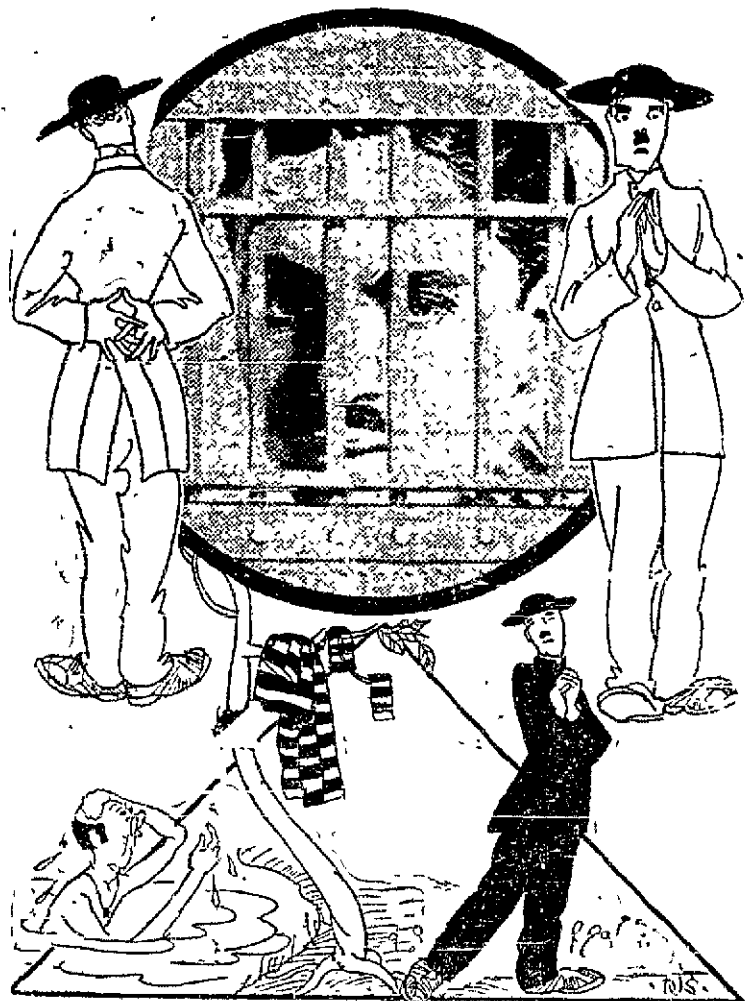

Chaplin goes to the kitchen to help the daughter prepare dinner. The boy, unobserved, puts his father's derby over the pudding and Chaplin covers it with sauce and cooks.

Exacted by any other, the above story would have made a rather flat comedy, but Chaplin's subtlety puts some satirical significance into almost every episode.

New Orpheum Stages
Unique Attraction Thursday

THE New Orpheum again comes forward with a brand new stunt. On Thursday evenings at the first and second performances, immediately before the shows start, the entire Bert Smith Company, now on its final week, will take the audience into their confidence and show them just how they prepare for the stage.

The stage will be turned into one large dressing room and the audience will be initiated into the mysteries of the art of making up, showing the entire company making up in street attire to stage make up costumes. This is something new and novel and will be given as an extra attraction in conjunction with "Excess-80," the offering of the Bert Smith Company Thursday, Friday and Saturday, when this popular

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF MOVIE

Violet Virginia Blackton is to play the part of the young Queen Elizabeth in "The Virgin Queen." This is a picture to star Lady Diana Manners.

Violet's sponsors say this is the first time an adult role has been assigned to one so young as 12. But many adult actresses have tried to play children of 12. (Usually with far from convincing effect.) Of this total the number born or reared on farms was 233; the number from small towns, 58; from cities 9.

JUST FELT TIRED
ALL THE TIMESays Plant Juice Has Now Relieved His Kidney and Bladder Trouble

A WONDERFUL IMPROVEMENT

"I can heartily recommend your Plant Juice medicine because it has done me a great deal of good," said Mr. J. A. Bomgardner of Wapakoneta, O., R. F. D. No. 9, during a recent conversation with The Plant Juice Man at his headquarters in Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting large crowds of local people and introducing and explaining his medicine.

"For years I had suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and had bad pains in my head," Mr. Bomgardner continued. "I could not sleep or rest properly because I had to get up so much during the night. I had kidney pains that were terrible, and I was in poor health generally and felt tired all the time. Just a little work seemed to exhaust my strength.

"Finally, I started taking your Plant Juice and have improved wonderfully from the first bottle. Those pains have been greatly relieved and I do not have to get up so much at night and get too tired so that I am rested when I get up mornings. I eat fine; the pains in my head are gone and my bowels are in good condition."

Plant Juice has given relief in several thousand cases in this section of Ohio alone and in more than a million cases in all parts of the United States. People who take this medicine say it seems to act like magic in cases of stomach trouble and its many complications.

STUDEBAKER
LEADERSHIP IN 1923

THE 1923 series Studebakers, which we are displaying at the Automobile Show, are the finest cars and the greatest values Studebaker has ever offered.

And they are 1923 cars, introduced in 1923, with 1923 refinements and betterments. Each is its own guarantee of a continuing leadership.

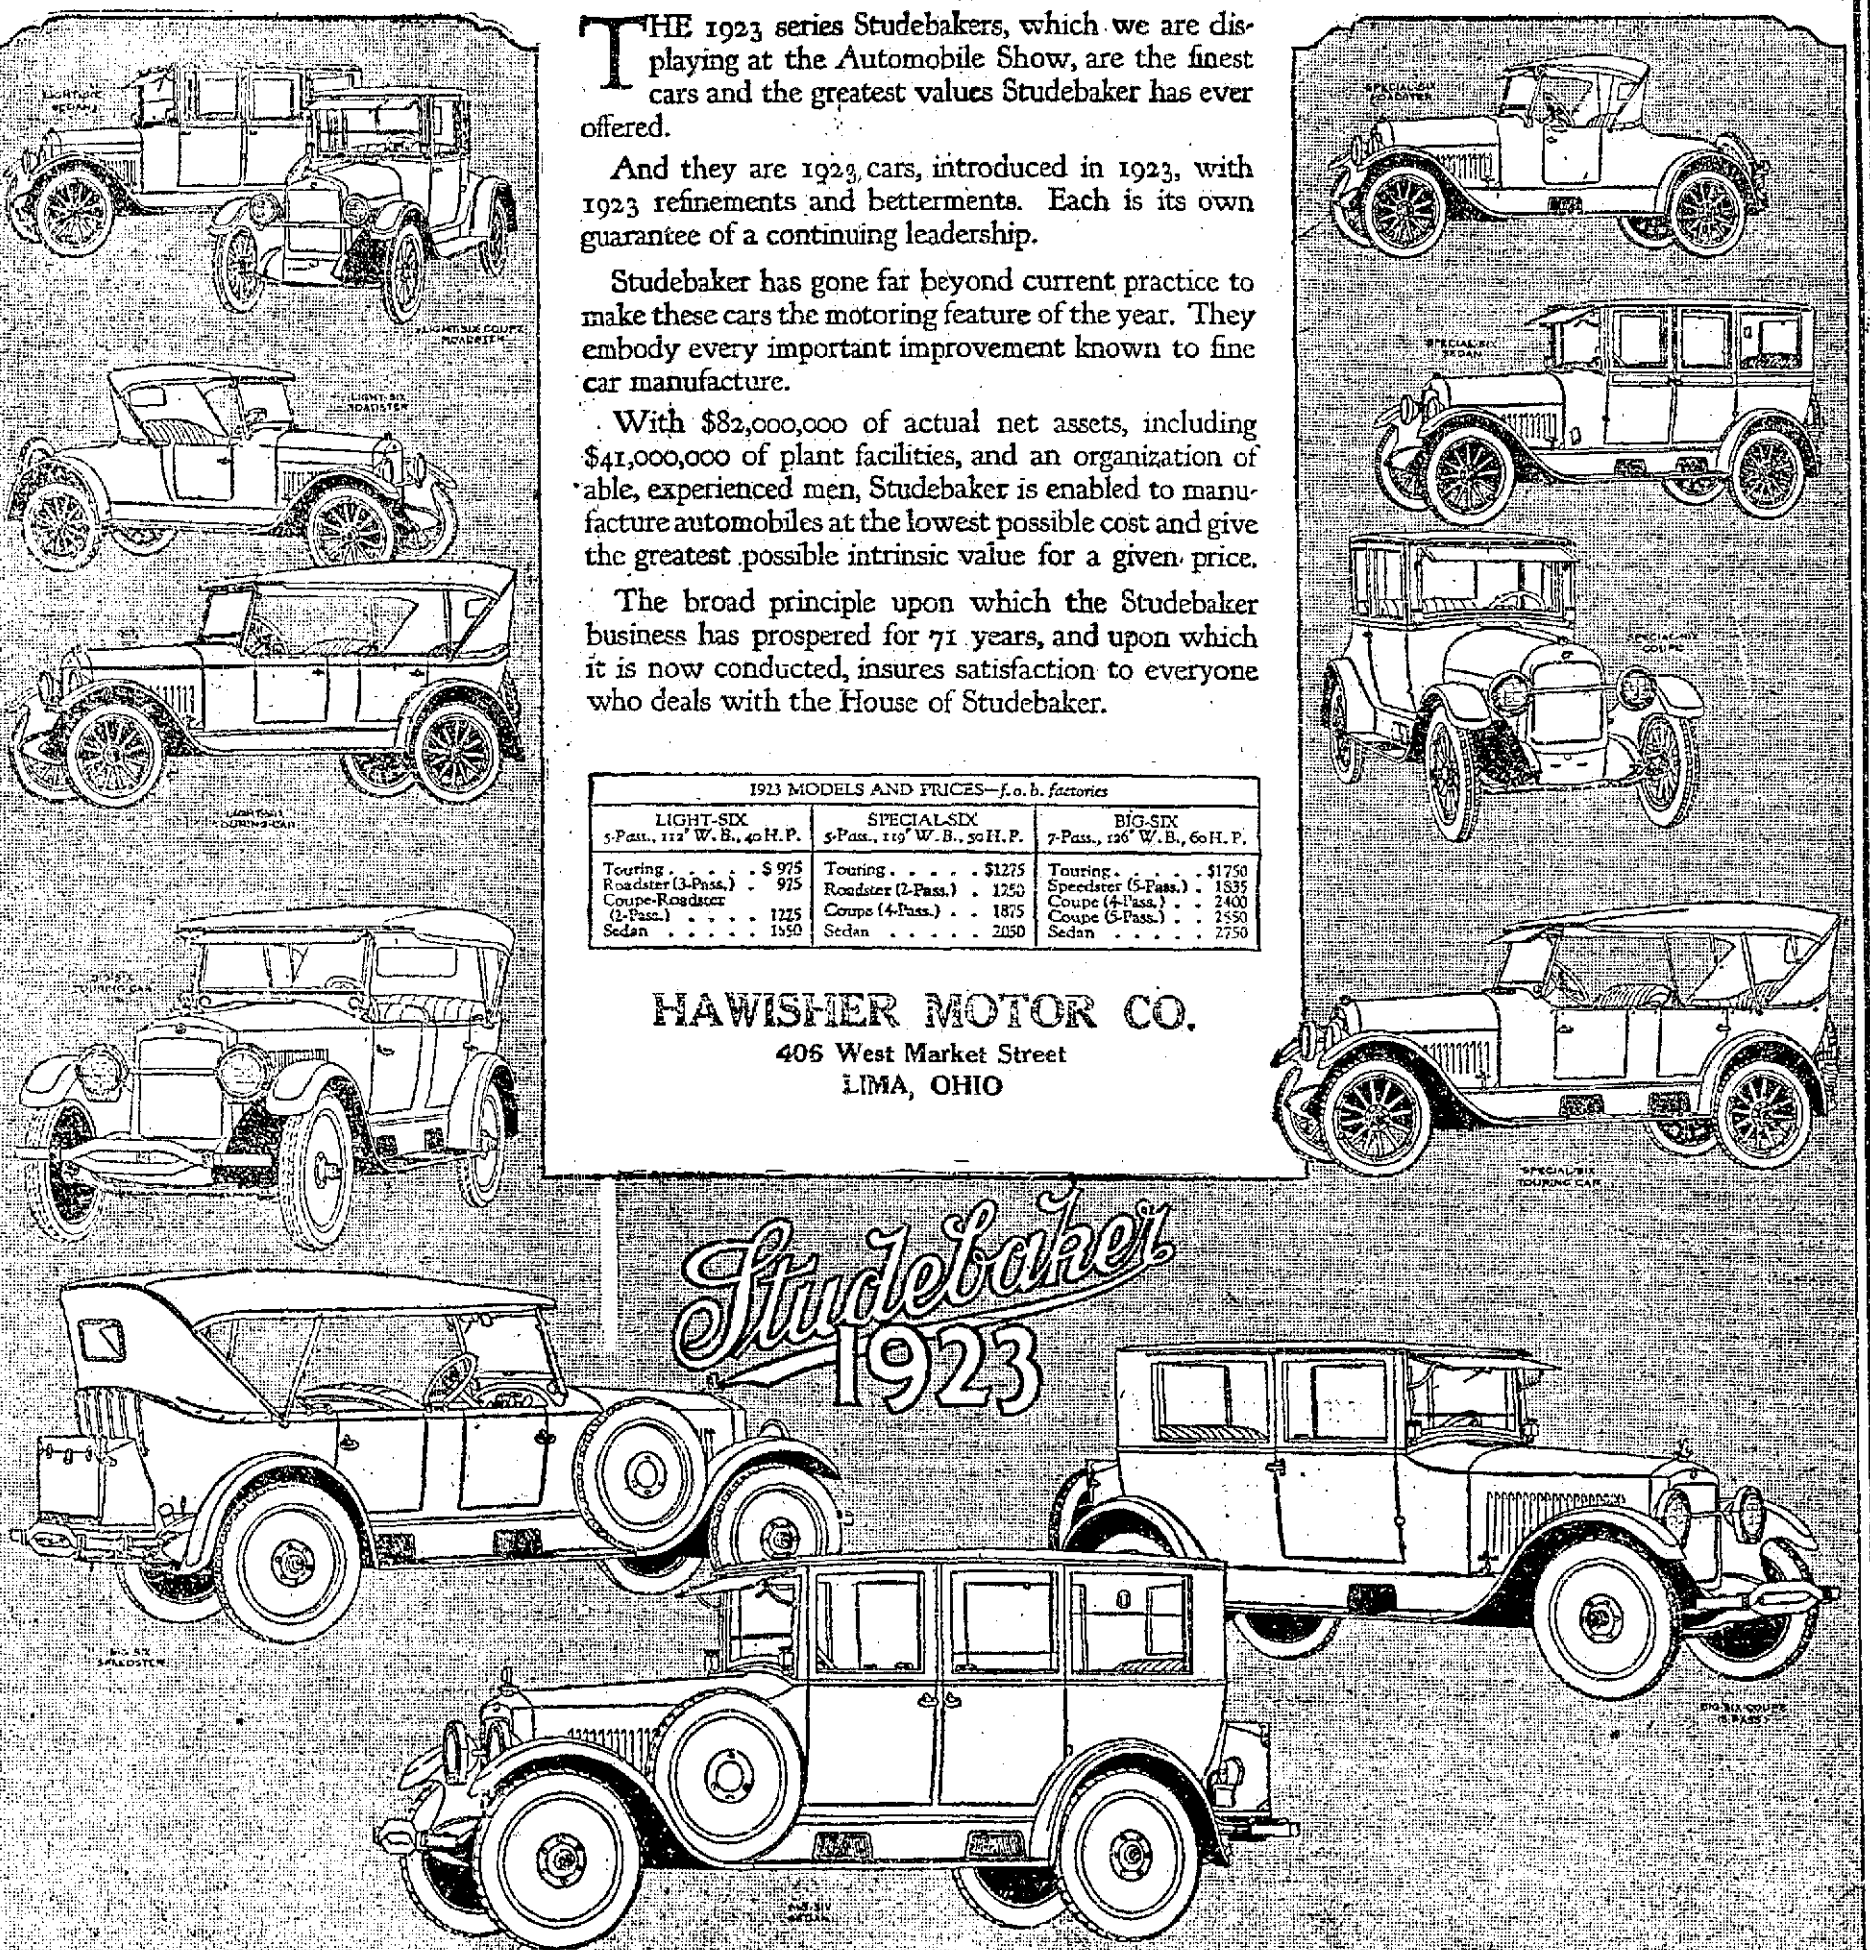

Studebaker has gone far beyond current practice to make these cars the motoring feature of the year. They embody every important improvement known to fine car manufacture.

With $82,000,000 of actual net assets, including $41,000,000 of plant facilities, and an organization of able, experienced men, Studebaker is enabled to manufacture automobiles at the lowest possible cost and give the greatest possible intrinsic value for a given price.

The broad principle upon which the Studebaker business has prospered for 71 years, and upon which it is now conducted, insures satisfaction to everyone who deals with the House of Studebaker.
